POLITICAL LEADERS

Gathering for the Pennsylvania Republican Convention.

The Quay Faction Excited Over the Reported Defections From Their Ranks.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 26.—Delegates, political leaders and sightseers from all over the state are arriving in great numbers today, and the indications are that the republican state convention on Wednesday will be the largest in point of attendance ever held in the state. There is much talk of bribery, and the Quay people are greatly exercised over reported defections from their ranks. They appear to be afraid the other side is investing large sums of money in this way. On the other hand the administration leaders say Senator Quay's bribery talk is an evidence of weakness, and an illustration of the hopeless character of his contest. "He is preparing to explain his downfall after the convention," said a Hastings man. The administration people are beginning to suspect that Senator Quay is not sincere in his announced intention to permit the nomination of the superior court judges appointed by Gov. Hastings without opposition. The presence here of S. A. Davenport, of Erie; Whiteworth, of Armstrong, and others mentioned in connection with the new court, leaves them to think that a scheme is being arranged to dump several of the judges. Ex-Magistrate Durham, Quay's first lieutenant, says the roll of delegates prepared by Chairman Gilkeson is grossly unfair so far as Philadelphia is concerned. He declares that it is an unprecedented act for a chairman to make up a roll before he receives his credentials. He thinks all the names or none should have been placed on the roll.

Gilkeson has retained Robert Snodgrass, of Harrisburg, to represent him in the proceedings which will be instituted in court this afternoon to compel him to surrender all books and documents belonging to the state committee. Senator Quay remains close to his rooms at the Lochiel hotel in conference with his friends. He has the general direction of his campaign and is hopeful of success. The Gilkeson people are just as hopeful of winning. They have made the executive mansion a sort of headquarters. Here Governor Hastings receives delegates and politicians friendly to him. The state committee will meet at 3 o'clock to prepare the roll. If Gilkeson refuses to attend the committee will enter proceedings against him. Congressman Robinson has a scheme to inquire of each member the amount of money Gilkeson gave their county in the last gubernatorial campaign. It is expected that the meeting will be highly sensational.

TWO SHOCKING DEEDS.

An Unknown Man Murdered in Pittsburg.

D. W. Knoll Becomes Despondent and Seeks Rest in a Suicide's Grave.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26. — D. W. Knoll, thirty-seven years old, of Erie, Pa., a traveling agent for the Travelers' Insurance company, committed suicide last night by cutting his throat from ear to ear at the residence of A. W. Powers, the local agent of the Travelers' company, at 123 Euclid avenue. Despondency is the only cause known for the deed.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 26.—A mysterious murder was committed today in "Yellow Row," a notorious building on Second avenue. An unknown man was enticed into the building, when his throat was cut and the body thrown into the street from a second story window. His neck was broken and his skull fractured by the fall. William Boyer and wife, who were detected wiping a bloody knife, were arrested.

SAVED HIS LIFE.

President Cleveland Steps Between an Indian and Death.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—The president has commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of Cephas Wright, a full blood Choctaw Indian, convicted of murder by the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Texas and sentenced to be hanged September 13. Wright was twice sentenced to be hanged, the execution of the sentence being deferred by appeal to the supreme court from September 28, 1894, the first date fixed. The president cites as his reasons for the commutation Wright's ignorance of the English language and laws and lack of realization of the enormity of the offense.

NEW STEEL BOAT.

The Lackawana Company Having One Constructed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The contract for another big steel boat was closed by the Chicago Ship Building company today. The new boat will be built for Captains C. W. Elphicke and Arthur, of Chicago, and M. M. Drake, of Buffalo, general manager of the Lackawana line. In dimensions she will be 326 feet keel, 345 feet over all, 42 feet beam and 26½ feet deep.

WORK OF ANARCHISTS.

An Infernal Machine Sent to Baron De Rothschild.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The efforts of the police to discover the authors of the attempt upon the life of Baron Alphonse de Rothschild on Saturday afternoon last, by sending him an infernal machine disguised as a mail package, which exploded when opened by the banker's confidential clerk, M. Jodkowitz, have proved unavailing up to the present time. The authorities, however, are confident that it was the work of anarchists, and three suspected anarchists have been arrested, examined and obliged to give the police specimens of their handwriting. They were subsequently discharged. M. Jodkowitz continues to improve.

HOLT'S WILL.

After Many Years, is Found in Unexpected Quarters.

Generals Grant and Sherman Were Witnesses to the Instrument—The Estate Worth $150,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The will of the late Joseph Holt, who was judge advocate general of the United States during the war, was filed today. The instrument was witnessed twenty years ago by Generals Grant and Sherman and Mrs. Sherman. The estate, valued at about $150,000, is left to Lizzie Hines, a niece, and Josephine Hart Throckmorton, a god-child.

Judge Holt was a Kentuckian, but for twenty-five years lived in this city. He died here several months ago, leaving considerable property but no will, so far as the most diligent search could discover. Arrangements were made accordingly for its division among his nearest relatives. This morning the registrar of wills received in the mails a letter containing an old, faded and partially burned sheet of paper, which on examination purported to be an old will of Judge Holt's. There was no communication accompanying the paper to show the sender or the motive for transmitting it to the registrar. Judge Holt left between $200,000 and $300,000 dollars. One will was found, but it bore on its back a written revocation. The property went into the hands of two trust companies as administrators for distribution among the legal heirs. These were W. D. Holt, J. W. Holt and W. G. Sterrett, the well known Texas newspaper correspondent. Josephine Throckmorton is a daughter of Major Throckmorton, of the United States army. She is married and lives in New York. Miss Hines is also living. The executor of the will thus strangely found is Mr. Develine, a clerk in the war department, who was the confidential secretary of Judge Holt when the will was written.

MOB VIOLENCE.

Four Murderers Handged by Citizens of Yreka.

The Jail Doors Battered Down, the Men Taken Out and Strung Up in a Tree.

YREKA, Cala., Aug. 26.—Four murderers confined in the county jail here, Johnson, Semlock Null and Moreno, were taken from jail by a mob at 2 o'clock this morning and hanged in the jail yard.

The mob was composed of 350 men who broke into the jail, battered down the cell doors where the four muderers were confined, and dragged the men into the yard and hung them all from a rail which had been placed between two trees.

The lynching is the climax of a reign of lawlessness which has prevailed in this part of the country for several months past.

EASY FOR REQUITAL.

Dave Gideon's Colt First Home in the Futurity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The eighth futurity, the second richest in the nine years of the event, being worth a total of $65,250. was captured Saturday on the Sheepshead bay track by Dave Gideon's Requital in close to record time, lacking only two-fifths of a second. The California colt, Crescendo, was second by a length, while a long distance behind came the long shot, Silver II, in third place, beating the heavily played Handspring for the show money by a neck. Handspring and Hastings, who finished fifth, were stopped by their weight, while the speedy filly Axiom had enough of it at the half-mile pole.

Griffin won his fourth consecutive race of the day, and was hoisted into the jockey's chair, while the crowd heartily cheered. By this ride he made $53,750 for David Gideon, who, by the aid of John Hyland, one of the best trainers in America, landed the third futurity and the second in succession, the Butterflies being the winner a year ago, and his Highness in 1891. For running second Crescendo got $5 333 and Silver II received $2,667 as third money. The Brookdale stud gets $4,000 for breeding the winner, $2,500 goes to the breeder of Crescendo, and $1 000 to the breeder of Silver II.

Wealthy Man Dead.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 26.—Word has been received by cable of the death of the wealthy merchant, Henry Pundt, at Hamburg, Germany, where he was temporarily sojourning on his way to Carlsbad in search of health. Mr. Pundt was a pioneer of Omaha, having established the first exclusive grocery business in Nebraska in 1856.

If the Cuban revolution is not suppressed before congress meets, it will certainly be in the interest of humanity and civilization for the United States government to recognize the Cuban republic.

It is to be hoped we shall soon have news that the Japanese have entirely put down the rebellious Formosan savages.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Every Train Lands Hundreds of Them in Boston.

The First on the Scene Was Holyroad Commandery, Followed Rapidly by Others From all States.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 26.—Knights Templar and their ladies from every section of the United States and visitors from every nook and corner of New England have been pouring into the city today by the thousands. One hundred commanderies, including over 3,500 Sir Knights, arrived at the different railroad stations, and before midnight tonight fifty more delegations will arrive.

The first commandery to put in its appearance this morning was Holyroad of Ohio. There were 100 Sir Knights and eighty ladies in the party which was due to arrive at 3 a. m. The train was late, but came in soon after seven. Among the delegations which came in today was five commanderies from Illinois, including the Chicago commandery, the Grand commandery of Colorado, two from South Dakota, two from Indian territory and Oakland commandery of California.

Although yesterday was the busiest Sunday Boston has seen since the days of the civil war the city was astir early today to greet the host of strangers. Before the sun was fairly up, strains of music were heard in the streets, as resident commanderies moved towards the depots to meet and escort the scores of early arrivals. By 7 o'clock so many bands were out that the air was full of music. One could not go more than a block or two down town without meeting at least one body of knights, and the inspiring strains soon reigned supreme.

A great feature of the gathering this year is the great number of visitors who are attracted simply as spectators. All trains from New England points are late from one to two hours, and a glance at the hotel registers show that there is hardly a town, village or hamlet in all the six New England states that is not represented. The railroad men have been taken completely by surprise, but they are making herculean plans to meet the emergency and say they expect to bring in over 250,000 people before the parade starts tomorrow, besides those from the suburban towns that make up Greater Boston. The only meetings today are those devoted to committee work, relating to the housing of visiting commanderies. The excursion steamer, Cygnus, which has been chartered for the entire week, made two trips down the harbor today, carrying 1,200 passengers each time. She will start daily at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., staying out about three hours each trip.

MARRIED AT A DEATHBED.

Peculiar Double Wedding at a Father's Last Request.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A double wedding under peculiar circumstances took place in Brooklyn about a week ago, the facts of which have just been made public. The principals were Frank A. Galloway, of Lowville, N. Y., and Miss Bessie Barnes, and Charles E. Little, jr., of Jersey City, and Miss Rachel Barnes. The brides were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gaybert Barnes, of 670 Tenth street, Brooklyn, and the marriages were performed at the bedside of their father, who was then supposed to be dying and had requested that the marriages should take place before he breathed his last.

Mr. Little, whose father is a clergyman, went to the residence of Rev. Mr. Langlois, who was supplying the pulpit or All Saints' Protestant Episcopal church, and told of the dying man's wishes. The minister agreed to perform the ceremony, and at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, a week ago, he called at Mr. Barnes' home and in a few minutes the bridal party entered the front room, where Mr. Barnes was lying, and the ceremony began. Realizing the condition of Mr. Barnes, the clergyman read the service as quickly as possible. Both the brides were dressed in simple white gowns and were given away by their father, who had, however, to be supported while giving his blessing. The newly wedded couples have remained in the house ever since, ministering to the sick man, whose condition again became alarming today after having lived through the week. Dr. William F. Gardiner is in constant attendance and has informed the family that the question of Mr. Barnes' death is one only of hours.

Gaybert Barnes is very well known in publishing circles. He took a prominent part in the Henry George campaigns, when Dr. McGlynn was associated with the single tax advocates. Mr. Galloway, one of the participants in the double wedding, is a successful merchant in Lowville, N. Y., while Mr. Little is engaged in the advertising business, with offices in this city. The brides have always been prominent in social circles. They met their husbands, who were students in the Wesleyan university at Middleton, Conn., five years ago.

MILLIONAIRE DEAD.

After an Illness of a Few Weeks Harrison Bridge Passes Away.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Harrison V. Bridge, a young millionaire of Boston, died at the Palace hotel last night after an illness of three weeks. He had been enjoying good health for several months past, but the immediate cause of his death was a cold which he contracted at San Rafeal recently. The deceased was thirty-two years of age and was a son of the late Hudson E Bridge, of St. Louis, who died a number of years ago, after accumulating a fortune of several millions in the manufacture of stoves. He leaves a brother and sister and a step sister in the east, besides a wife and child. His brother, Hudson E Bridge, jr., as well as his sister, Mrs. N. C. Chapman, and his step-sister, Mrs. Gilbert Chapman, are in New York. His wife is in Boston.

ROBY ARENA BURNED.

The Columbian Athletic Club's Home for Fights Destroyed.

The Fire Demon Visits the Notorious Building at Hammond and Wipes it Out of Existence.

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 26—At 8 o'clock last evening the prize fighting arena at Roby was burned to the ground, and with it was consumed the hotel and saloon adjoining, owned by Prof. James Robertson, who is well known in sporting circles.

The fire originated in the top story of the hotel and was first discovered when it burst through the roof. The building was a frame one and burned rapidly. In ten minutes after the fire was discovered it had spread to the arena, which was also a frame building, and in half an hour both buildings were consumed.

The arena was built in the spring of 1893 by the Columbia Athletic club, at a cost of about $15,000, and its history is well known throughout the country. The club was organized under the celebrated McHugh law, passed by the legislature in 1893, one section of which gave permission to hold exhibitions of science and skill. Dominick O'Malley was president, and Charles Meyer secretary. The first fight pulled off was between Martin Costello and Billy Woods, which resulted in a draw. The principals and their assistants, together with the referee, George Sile, were arrested and taken to Crown Point. Several other events were pulled off in the building, when finally Governor Matthews took the matter in hand and sent a detachment of the state militia to the scene and placed Benjamin F. Hayes, of Crown Point, in possession as receiver for the Columbian Athletic club. This action put a stop to the prize fighting there and ever since the building has been standing idle.

When the case came up for hearing at Crown Point, Costello, who had been indicted under the riotous conspiracy act, was the first to be tried. A change of venue was prayed for by the defendant and Judge Gillett called Judge B. M. Langdon, of Lafayette, to try the case. The trial lasted several days and resulted in the jury returning a verdict of guilty and sentencing the defendant to two years in state prison, but before the sentence was pronounced by the judge, Costello jumped his bail and went to Canada, where he still remains. All the other cases were compromised by the payment of fines aggregating $4,000.

TIME UNITES LOVERS.

Romance in Marriage Just Solemnized at Bellefontaine, Ohio.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio, Aug. 26.—A young man went into business at Bellefontaine, Ohio, a few years ago, leaving behind, in the town he hailed from, a young lady whom he was engaged to marry. Almost daily he received loving epistles from her. One day, however, a letter came stating that she had decided to marry another. In less than a month she was married. A little while after the Bellefontaine man renewed correspondence with an old flame in southern Ohio, and after writing to her for several months quietly left Bellefontaine, returning in a few days with her as his bride. A year elapsed and the young lady to whom he was first engaged was a widow. Not long afterward the wife of the Bellefontaine man died. Letters of condolence were enchanged between widow and widower. The result was that in about three years they were married and are now living as happily as one could imagine.

BORDER POOLROOM RAIDED.

Ryan's Place on the Illinois-Indiana Line Closed.

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 26.—Sheriff Hayes, assisted by local officers, raided "Paddy" Ryan's "Little Monte Carlo" poolroom on Saturday night. The place is situated on the Illinois-Indiana state line, eight feet of it being on the Indiana side. Seven pool sellers were arrested. They gave cash bail aggregating $2,000 for their appearance at a hearing tomorrow morning in the Lake circuit court before Judge Gillett. Sheriff Hayes has been after these players for several weeks, but could not get them on this side until Saturday, when they were driven over by the Illinois authorities.

Assaulted by Desperadoes.

LANSING, Iowa, Aug. 26.—Felix Brunner, of Galena, Ill., mate of the steamer Menominee, was nearly carved to pieces by two desperadors named Quinn and Roberts, of Victor, Wis. While the boat was making a landing near there last night he was cut in a dozen places from an inch to three inches in length. The assailants have been lodged in jail at Viroqua.

Anarchist Arrested.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—A special dispatch received here from Paris says that an anarchist has been arrested at Vie Sur Cere, department of Cantal, upon the information of the postmistress of that place, who declares that the man taken into custody posted a letter similar to the one received at the Rothschild's banking house on Saturday.

HUNG TO A TREE

In the Court House Yard--Work of a Mob in Kentucky.

Went to the Jail During the Night and Took Out a Negro Murderer.

SPRINGFIELD, Ky., Aug. 26.—Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning a mob composed of about a dozen men took Harrison Lewis, the negro who murdered Joe Brooks, also colored, last Friday night, from the jail here and hanged him to a tree in the court house yard.

When the mob reached the jail they called for Jailor Smith, but his wife informed them that he was not at home and that he had the keys to the jail with him. This did not daunt the mob, however. Going to a blacksmith shop near by they procured some sledge hammers and after three hours' work succeeded in battering down the jail door. Lewis was found crouching in his cell and begged piteously for his life, but the leader ordered men to make quick work of him. He was quickly seized and after placing a rope around his neck was dragged to the nearest tree and strung up without further ceremony. The mob did its work in a quiet, orderly way, and seemed to be thoroughly organized. It is the opinion of many that it was composed of colored men. After completing their work the mob quietly dispersed. The murder was a dastardly one and the negroes have been greatly worked up since its occurrence. Friday night Lewis went to Brooks' house and calling him to the door shot him down on his own threshold without any warning. Harrison Lewis, the man that was lynched, was a brother of Matthew Lewis, who narrowly escaped lynching here about two weeks ago for an assault upon Mrs. Murray Shields, and who was taken to Louisville for safe keeping.

SAD STORY.

Mother Murders Her Boy and Attempts Suicide.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26.—A sad story of a mother's murder of her boy and a subsequent attempt at suicide is reported in a special telegram to the Oregonian from Independence. The wife of James Tetherow, a well to do farmer living near the Lackiamite river, arose before the others of the family were awake, and wrapping her six year old boy in a quilt, took him to the river and held his head under water until life was gone Throwing the body into the river, she returned home, awakened her husband and asked him to go to the doctor. The husband put her off and rolled over to go to sleep. The wife again left the house but this time she was followed. She went to the river and threw herself in but was quickly rescued, though she fought her rescuers with desperation. When the boy was missed she told how she had taken him to a "nice bathing pool and, although he clung to my neck and begged me not to, I put him in. I held his head under water." Mrs. Tetthrow is thought to be insane.

THIEF REPENTS.

He Returns a Pocketbook He Stole in Chicago.

ONEONTA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Frank Short, a farmer, found a package tied to his front door Saturday. On opening the parcel he discovered a pocketbook which had been stolen from him ten years ago. The pocketbook contained $15 and this note:

"MR. SHORT—Ten years ago, in the city of Chicago, I picked your pocket, securing this pocketbook and $15 in money. I am a poor tramp now, and must die soon, but I felt I could not enter eternity without first restoring this to you, as I found your name and address in the book. Please forgive me, as I know God has.

"A WANDERER."

Mr. Short well remembers the day he was robbed. He says if he could find the tramp he would gladly make him comfortable from his abundance.

CHEESE GROWS ON VINES.

Unique Discovery Made by a South Dakota Creamery Man.

SIOUX CITY, S. D., Aug. 26.—J. E. Mills conducts a creamery at Mellette. Early in the spring he discovered a plant growing in a little hole at one side of the creamery. He did not at first know what it was, and every morning he would empty a pail of separated milk on the plant. It turned out to be a summer squash vine and last week the squash got ripe. One was cut open and was found full of a substance which resembled and tasted like "Dutch cheese." Mr. Mills will keep the seed and plant them next year to see what they will produce.

DISAPPOINTMENT FOR BANDITS

They Hold a Man Up and Get Twenty-two Cents for Their Trouble.

LIBERTY, Ind., Aug. 26.—William Lee, a farmer, was held up near his home in true western style by two robbers. After binding him in his buggy they relieved him of his money. They got twenty-two cents. Mr. Lee had cashed a check for $500 in the afternoon, but deposited the money in another bank.

Train Ditched.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 26.—The Great Northern overland passenger train which left this city at 7:10 o'clock last night ran into a landslide seventeen miles from Richmond Beach. The engine and tender were ditched and the fore trucks of the baggage car left the track. Engineer McKintry was killed. The train had many passengers and McKintry, in the face of danger, stood at his post and succeeded in saving the lives of those he piloted only to be horribly mangled himself.

TO BE ENFORCED.

Warrants Issued Against Violators of the Law.

A Number of Prominent Saloonkeepers of Fort Wayne to be Arrested This Evening.

Mayor Oakley has entered upon the fulfillment of his declaration to proceed against the violators of the Nicholson liquor law. It has not been the intention of the officers to inflict hardships upon the saloonkeepers, and from the time the law went into effect until the present, leniency was shown until all could fully acquaint themselves with the provisions of the statute. The keepers of saloons were several times notified what would be expected and ten or twelve days ago the ultimatum was given. The time has now elapsed and hereafter the police will proceed upon the theory that every one is conversant with the provisions of the law, and affidavits will be filed against all the violators thereof.

The warning has been unheeded by a number of persons, and this morning the mayor ordered the prosecuting attorney to prepare warrants against the proprietors of a number of well known saloons, and accordingly papers will be served against Louis A. Centlivre, proprietor of the Home, for permitting men in the place after hours; Moses Rosenthal, on the same charge; Harry Gilbert for keeping a partition in his saloon; Gus Jackson for not having the screens drawn on Sunday.

These warrants will be served this evening, and the cases will be set for trial at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The administration states that the law will be enforced against all offenders, and that orders have been issued to all officers to perform their duty in this matter, without fear or favor.

HEIRS IN COURT

Seeking to Set Aside the Will of John Roller, Deceased.

Suit Brought Against the Nickel Plate for $10,000 on Account of the Death of James Yost.

Colerick & France, as attorneys for Caroline Kling and other heirs of John Roller, deceased, have commenced an action in the circuit court against William Roller, Jacob Roller and Jacob Buchfink, asking that the will made by the said John Roller, previous to his death, may be set aside and declared null and void upon the ground that at the time it was made the deceased was of unsound mind. The petition alleges that the defendants were unjustly given nearly the whole of the estate of $9,000 of the deceased, and that they, the plaintiffs, were not given what should have been rightly willed to them.

Sherman B. Malcolm, administrator of the estate of James Yost, deceased, has begun suit through his attorneys, Vesey and Heaton, in the circuit court to recover the sum of $10,000 from the Nickel Plate Railroad company for having carelessly caused the death of said Yost, who was a brakeman, at Wanatah, on the 27th day of November, 1893.

NOT BELIEVED.

Report of the Killing of Fifteen Bannock Indians.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—The report of the killing of fifteen Bannock Indians by cattlemen in the neighborhood of Diamond Valley, Ore., is not believed at the Indian bureau. Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning says he believes there is no foundation for the report. He says there is no reservation within 300 miles of the region where the affair is stated to have taken place, and that, as far as the Indian office is informed, no Indians were in the vicinity.

WHIPPED AGAIN.

The Insurgents Defeated by the Spanish Troops.

HAVANA, Aug. 26.—According to official advices an engagement between the Spanish troops and the insurgents, lasting an hour and a half, has been fought at Niquoro, near Manzauillo, province of Santiago de Cuba. The insurgents are said to have lost fifty killed and wounded and the leader, Reiter, is said to be seriously wounded. No details of the affair, it is added, have reached here.

Killed Himself.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 26.—W. W. Kittell, an attache of the war department, D. C., shot and killed himself in his room at the Hotel Willey, in this city, about 9 o'clock this morning.

Hon. John Winn, of Defiance, Ohio, one of the gentlemen interested in the proposed electric railway between Fort Wayne and Hicksville, Ohio, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Beaver have returned from Bluffton, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith over Sunday.

For a practical course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Typewriting attend the Fort Wayne Business College. Classes in all the common branches. Fall term begins Sept. 2. Before arranging to attend elsewhere, call at the college for full outline of course of studies. Office open day and evening. MacDougal block, cor. Berry and Calhoun streets.

IN CUSTODY AGAIN.

Charles Hobbs Arrested at Edgerton for Attempted Rape.

Just Released From Prison He Assaults a Little Girl and Narrowly Escapes Being Lynched.

Charles Hobbs, of Edgerton, in this county, a young man who has just completed serving a term of one year in the penitentiary at Michigan City, for criminally assaulting Mrs. McConnell, was arrested last Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Melching, at Edgerton, for a similar offense committed on Lottie Shirard, the seven-year-old step daughter of George Jewell, an employe in the stave factory of Rose & Anspaugh, of Edgerton, and brought to this city and lodged in jail to answer to the heinious crime of rape.

Friday afternoon Sheriff Clausmeier returned from Michigan City with Hobbs and gave him his liberty. The young man at once started for Edgerton, where he has a number of relatives residing. Saturday afternoon while going from the home of one relative to his grandmother's house on the road, a short distance from Edgerton, he overtook little Lottie Shirard, and, seizing her, he dragged her from the road into a field, but was prevented from accomplishing his fiendish purpose by the resistance and screams of the child which brought Louis Bonner, a passing farmer, to her rescue, and the brutish Hobbs escaped for the time being.

As soon as the news of the assault became known a number of citizens started in pursuit of Hobbs and he was found hiding in a field about a mile distant from the scene of his attempted crime. The sentiment was in favor of lynching the prisoner, but cooler counsel finally prevailed and the captors awaited the arrival of the officer, who had been telephoned for, and he was brought to this city and safely landed in jail.

Hobbs is a young man only about twenty-two years old. He was formerly an inmate of the reform school, but later was placed in the state home for feeble minded youth, near this city. He was released from that institution something over a year ago, and signalized his release from custody of the state by assaulting two little girls at Ox Bow Bend, on the Maumee river, near which place his father at that time resided. A few days later he assaulted another little girl at Edgerton. The day following this last mentioned crime, he assaulted with fiendish brutality Mrs McConnell at Edgerton. This victim was but a two days' bride, and Hobbs seized her on the railroad track as she was going into Edgerton, dragged her into the woods and bound her with a rope. He was arrested for this crime by a posse of citizens and only the prompt and cool action of Sheriff Clausmeier, aided by influential citizens of the village, saved his neck from the rope.

The preliminary examination of Hobbs is taking place this afternoon before Justice France.

NEW ELECTRIC ROAD.

Fort Wayne and Hicksville Road Sure to be Built.

Articles of Incorporation Filed This Afternoon in the Office of the Secretary of State.

The proposed electric railway between Fort Wayne and Hicksville, Ohio, is sure to be built, and that, too, at a very early date. The men back of the enterprise are not only enterprising and energetic, but can command abundance of capital to push the work to a speedy completion. Prominent men of Hicksville and Defiance, interested in the proposed road, are in the city today, and late this afternoon a meeting was held at the office of Randall & Doughman for the purpose of preparing the articles of incorporation. These were completed and filed in the office of the secretary of state. The capital stock is $100,000, and it is thought that sum will be sufficient to complete the line.

The road will be forty-three miles in length and will run from this place through Maysville to Hicksville, thence eventually to Williams Centre and Bryan, Ohio. The building of the line will necessitate the employment of a large number of men, and the amount expended for labor and material during the coming fall and winter will be no inconsiderable sum.

The new road will prove of great benefit to Fort Wayne, opening up territory that is now practically inaccessible, and that it is to be constructed will prove gratifying to every citizen of the city and county.

THE DIRECTORS.

The board of directors of the new road is composed of the following gentlemen: John W. Winn, John S. Hart, James B. Colegrun, Aaron M. Reichelderfer, Clarence F. Swift, Charles McCulloch, Perry A. Randall.

The officers will be elected on the return of the papers from Indianapolis.

DISCUSSING COMBINATION.

Window Glass Manufacturers Hold a Secret Session.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 26.—A number of leading window glass manufacturers from Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio met in conference at the Hollenden hotel late this afternoon. The session was held behind closed doors and the delegates refused to state the object of the conference, but it is generally believed that the wage scale and combination of all the manufacturers are the questions which will be considered. It is probable that definite action will be taken on both propositions before an adjournment is taken.

DIED AWAY FROM HOME

Returning From a Trip to Europe Death Comes Suddenly

To Mrs. Joab Whittles, of This City, at New York, Shortly After She Landed From the Steamer.

A telegram which was sent to this city yesterday morning from New York announced the sudden death at that city on Saturday night, at 12:50 o'clock, of Mrs. Whittles, the wife of Joab Whittles, a well known machinist at the round house of the Wabash Railroad company in this city, whose home is at 396 West Main street.

The particulars of her death reveal a sad story, one that is a severe blow to the bereaved parents and the many friends of the deceased lady in this city, and although they are but meagre at this writing, THE SENTINEL will give them as they were gathered from one who is an intimate friend of the family.

Some ten weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Whittles left Fort Wayne for a visit to the parents of both of them at Rosedale, England, at which place Mr. and Mrs. Whittles formerly resided and which was the home of their early childhood and youth. They reached their destination in safety, passed their visit among their relatives pleasantly and started on their homeward journey with Mrs. Whittles apparently in the best of health.

Shortly after leaving the steamer at New York and after they arrived, at 2:10 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at their hotel on Ellis Island, Mrs. Whittles was stricken with paralysis and suffered another stroke at 6:30, from the effects of which she died at 12:50 o'clock that night.

The sorrowing husband with the remains of his dead wife will reach this city some time tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Whittles was fifty-two years of age, and besides her husband leaves a family of six children, five daughters, and one son. The children did not accompany their parents on their European trip. She was born in England but has resided in this city for the last thirty-five years.

CALLED SUDDENLY.

Death of Julius P. Manuel, of West Jefferson Street.

Stricken on His Return From a Pleasure Ride--Death of Mrs. Charlotte Brooks.

Julius P. Manuel, the well-known clerk in the clothing store of Sam, Pete & Max, died very suddenly at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, at his home, 323 West Jefferson street. Mr. Manuel had not been especially indisposed—indeed, he was out during Sunday afternoon and evening. Returning to his residence he was taken with convulsions and died in a very short time after the attack. Mr. Manuel was about fifty-two years of age and was born in France, but had been for many years a resident of Fort Wayne and was well liked by all. He leaves a wife and three children—Frank, a mailcarrier; Miss Josephine, deputy in the county recorder's office, and Mrs. Fred Roegers, of Niles, Mich. Francis P. Manuel, of the People's store, is a brother. Miss Manuel was visiting her sister in Niles at the time of the death and both were apprised of the sad event by telegram. The funeral will be held from the Cathedral at 9 o'clock, Wednesday morning, and the interment will be at Academie.

BROOKS.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning, at the residence of her son, Henry C. Brooks, 269 West DeWald street, occurred the death of Mrs. Charlotte Brooks, the aged mother of the well-known contractors, William and Henry Brooks. Mrs. Brooks was born January 2, 1811, in Sussex county, England. She removed to America and for many years has been a resident of Fort Wayne. The deceased has been afflicted with Bright's disease for several years, but it was not until the past summer that her sickness became alarming. The funeral will be held from the residence, 269 West DeWald street, probably Wednesday afternoon.

VACHON.

Louis, the four-months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Vachon, who reside in the northwest part of the city, died early this morning of cholera infantum. The remains will be interred tomorrow morning at Sheldon.

LEHMAN.

William, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lehman, of 71 Canal street, died Sunday at Auburn, Ind., of membranous croup. The remains will be brought to this city tomorrow and interred in Concordia cemetery.

POWELL.

Chester, the one-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac B. Powell, of Barthold street, died of brain fever early Sunday morning. The funeral was held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The rain this morning was too much for a few of the old soaks, and two negroes were taken in and locked up by the police on a charge of vagrancy. Another fellow was found on Clinton street who had too great a load of liquid refreshment aboard, and he was given a secluded corner in a station-house cell.

THE BLUES.

Why do Women have the Blues more than Men?

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Are not women naturally as light-hearted, brave, and hopeful as men?

Yes; but woman's organism is different from man's.

Women in perfect or good health are rarely victims of this symptom.

Women nearly monopolize the blues, because their peculiar ailments promote them.

When the female organs fail to perform their functions properly, when the dreaded female complaints appear, there is shown nervousness, sleeplessness, faintness, backache, headache, bearing-down pains, etc., causing the dreaded "let-me-alone" and "all-gone" feelings.

When the woman does not understand what the matter is, and her doctor can not or will not tell her, she grows morose and melancholy: that's the blues.

Mrs. Newton Cobb, of Manchester, O., says: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all this trouble. I cannot praise it enough. I am pleased to tell every one that it cured me; and if it will cure me, why not others? I am sure my case was severe enough." It will.

The Evening Sentinel.

BY E. A. K BACKETT.

MONDAY, AUG. 26, 1895.

THE idle money in New York banks is now being freely invested in real estate. This is not a bad sign.

CHOLERA has already destroyed twenty times over more lives in Japan than were lost in the war with China.

A SENTINEL representative took a trip over Swinney park this morning, and, while the grounds are being placed in a suitable condition, it seems too bad that a larger force of workmen cannot be employed. Under the present order of things a good many moons will come and go before the park will be in shape for the pleasure and enjoyment of our people.

THE engagement of Miss Emma Rockefeller, daughter of the Standard Oil magnate, to Dr. David Hunter McAlpin, jr., son of the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, is announced. As in the case of the Burden-Sloan marriage, two very wealthy families will thus be allied by a matrimonial arrangement. In America this is becoming a popular method of making the rich richer. People who have already more wealth than they know what to do with take pains to increase their possessions by marrying more. If this is not building up a money aristocracy, what is it?

WIDE ties are a prerequisite for good roads cheaply and easily maintained. Wide tires makes bad roads good and keep good roads good. All are interested and all should cheerfully do their duty. Make wide the tires of your vehicles. Even the lightest vehicles should have their tires widened. It sets a good example. The lightest buggy should have its tires doubled or trebled in width. Delivery wagons should have their tires widened. Wagons of all kinds should have very wide tires. This is a matter which could be easily regulated by law.

THE sentiment of the people of this county has been for years in favor of the abolishment of the toll gate and the making free of the gravel roads of the county. The right to travel every road of the county without the payment of a fee is one that belongs to every citizen and sooner or later it will be accorded him. THE SENTINEL has so often urged the purchase of the toll roads, and given its reasons why this should be done, that it is unnecessary in this connection to repeat this plea or the arguments in its favor. The present commissioners of Allen county would gladly purchase the toll roads if they could do so at a reasonable price, but whenever an attempt is made by them to agree with the owners upon figures the latter fix a price which is double what the commissioners think it ought to be. This was the case with the attempt made this summer to purchase them, and it will continue to be the case probably for some years to come unless some pressure is brought to bear upon the owners to force a sale. THE SENTINEL would not urge sterner measures just now than compromise, for it believes the toll road owners, who are citizens of our county and interested in its welfare, will eventually see that it is to their interest to accept the price for their roads which was fixed by the majority of the appraisers recently appointed for that purpose. If the commissioners are unable to purchase the toll roads at a reasonable figure they ought to see to it that the owners at all times keep them in proper repair, something they do not do now, and which if they were required to do their investments would not be as profitable to them as they say they are.

Saloons on Sunday.

The police board of New York has received an unlooked-for support in its efforts to enforce the law closing saloons on Sunday. This is nothing less than the organization representing the more reputable saloonkeepers. Last Monday a number of saloonkeepers went into court and pleaded guilty, promising to observe the law in the future. A few days later a saloonkeeper was sent to the penitentiary by a jury that had two saloonkeepers as jurors voting for his conviction. Last Friday representatives of the Wine, Beer and Liquor Dealers' association announced that the organization would close all saloons owned by its members on Sundays after September 1, and they appended to this capitulation an appeal for quarter.

One member of the association said: "All we want is that every one else shall be as tightly closed as we are. We have a membership of 5,500, or 55 per cent. of the retail dealers in town, and 75 per cent. of the money invested. We cannot afford to close while others are open, but if the authorities will help us out by enforcing the law absolutely then we are satisfied."

The president of the excise committee went into court and asked leniency for saloonkeepers now on trial for past offenses, promising that there should be a general closing after Sept. 1, and that the association would help to convict those who did not obey the law after that date. The judges promised to take the matter under consideration and wait to see what the general meeting of the association will do tomorrow. If it endorses the action of its general committee and orders its members to close their saloons on Sunday hereafter, it ends the contest and makes New York a dry town on Sunday.

The Wine, Beer and Liquor Dealers' association represents what is known as the better class among saloonkeepers in New York. Many claim that they do not want to disobey any law, nor do they care to keep open on Sunday. They have been forced to keep open on Sunday by the disreputable saloons that never closed and attracted their trade. They do not propose to fight the law to help the dives. They ask the police board to enforce the law against the lower order of saloons, and the association will see that it is observed by its own members, who are a majority of all the saloonkeepers in New York.

This action of the Wine, Beer and Liquor Dealers' association illustrates what has been said many times, that there is no class of men who want to work seven days in the week. The barbers of Chicago were the prime movers in securing the law against having barber shops open on Sunday in this state, and we believe that the more reputable saloonkeepers would just as willingly have Sunday as a day of rest. They think they are forced to keep open seven days in the week because of the competition of other saloon men, whose places are resorts for the lowest class of saloon patrons and who have their best business on Sunday. But it is not a paying business for the better class saloons. They are losing money by trying to compete with the more disreputable places on one day in the week.

The Sunday closing fight in New York has developed the fact that the saloons there are in a bad way financially. They have suffered from the long period of business depression and from close competition. Their business is overcrowded. There are 10,000 saloons in that city and not business enough for all of them. They have had to mortgage their property to the brewers and distillers and plead that they have violated the excise law in the hope of avoiding downright insolvency.

The action of the Liquor Dealers' association will bring the competition back to a more legitimate basis. It will place all saloons on a six days a week basis, as other business, and then the better class will survive, while the others will fall. That is the rule with all business where the laws are enforced, and the Liquor Dealers' association of New York is simply following a good business principle in resolving to help enforce the law.

IT IS an ingenious idea, that which Captain Judson N. Cross, a lawyer of Minneapolis, has evolved from his brain. It is that Hawaii send delegates to the American congress in December, asking admission for them on the same basis as that on which delegates from the other territories have obtained seats. Captain Cross believes that both historical precedent and common sense will favor the admission of such delegates. Hawaii has demonstrated her power to maintain a republican form of government in and of herself, and that is the main condition required for the recognition of a United States territory.

American civilization is very far behind that of Europe in some respects. At no German seaside resort is sewage allowed to be emptied into the ocean. A government chemist makes analysis of the water every morning and finds out what is in it. The sewage must be conveyed inland and disposed of. It is utilized as a fertilizer and pays a profit. There is not, so far as is known, a seaside resort in America where the sewage is not poured into the sea near the place. This is a nice kind of water to bathe in.

Missionaries are not deterred by the terrors of Ku-Chang from sailing for China. Mrs. Jonathan Goforth of Toronto has not hesitated a moment to go forth to join her husband, who is in China now.

Curious Canadian History.

At the time of the American Revolution the population of Canada was still largely French. The people, "habitans," as they were called, desired to unite with the 13 colonies, fight with them and become one country with them. Had they been permitted to do so Canada would now have been divided into a number of prosperous states of this Union.

It was chiefly owing to the Roman Catholic clergy, so it is claimed, that the Canadian French kept out of the Union. The clergy had a horror of radicalism and revolutions. They sincerely believed that monarchy was a divinely ordained form of government and that no other could stand. They were loyal to the British government and kept the habitans from coming over to us. In return for this the British crown gave the Roman Catholic clergy many privileges in Canada. There is at present, it is said, $50,000,000 worth of Catholic church property in Canada. It is not taxed.

Now times have changed very much. A full third of the French population has migrated to the United States. At the same time British and Protestant people have been pouring into the Dominion. The country whose inhabitants were nearly all of French descent a century ago now has only 30 per cent of its population of that race. The rest is British and nearly all Protestant. These rebel with all their souls against the large grants and privileges the English government gave to the Roman Catholic clergy long ago for its services in keeping Canada for the crown. They rebel against the division of the school fund, and they will not have French as the official language. They wish the French habitans had gone over to the American Union at the time of our Revolution, and the French habitans wish so too.

Exploring South Polar Regions.

More than half a century ago Sir James Ross, sailing antarctic seas, found and named Victoria land. Commander Wilkes, United States navy, discovered it before, but did not name it. The south polar region was believed to be much colder than the north polar one. That has been the impression ever since. Comparatively few attempts have been made to approach the south pole.

But a speaker at the late international geographical congress in London reports a warmer climate in the south polar region. He is Captain Borchgrevinck, a Norwegian. On his recent expedition to the antarctic seas he found the majestic south polar continent to be twice as large as Europe. He named a promontory on this continent Cape Oscar, after his king. He sighted Cape Oscar in 74 degrees south latitude. Eighty-three degrees has been the highest latitude yet reached at the north pole.

After discovering Cape Oscar, Borchgrevinck sailed northward a short distance to Cape Adair, a point on the new continent, and made some explorations. While he was within the antarctic circle the temperature sometimes rose as high as 46 degrees, and the lowest was 25 degrees. The explorer found traces of vegetation, myriads of waterfowl and ores, indicating that valuable minerals might be found. Certainly there will be no difficulty in exploring a region where the thermometer rises as high at times as 46 degrees. Facts point to the conclusion that for some reason the south polar region is warmer than it was when Ross made his explorations.

BEARS A CHARMED LIFE.

Mr. Belding Is Continually Getting Hurt and So Needs One.

Willard Belding of Belchertown, 76 years old, and a most estimable person, has experienced more casualties than usually fall to the lot of one mortal who lives to tell the story.

At the age of 7 he had part of the fingers of one hand cut off. In later years he had the bones of one ankle smashed. The next accident that happened to him was the result of being caught by the mouth by the sweep of an old fashioned cider mill. His mouth was enlarged to an unnatural capacity and had to be partially sewed up. Next, a horse fell on him and broke the bone of one leg above the knee; next, as the result of a fall, he had his ribs on one side broken in; next, a sandbank caved in and buried him under it, breaking his limb over again, and after it healed he was left with one leg considerably shorter than the other. Last winter he fell and shattered his kneepan. When he was over 60 nature, as if to atone for some of his shattered bones, replaced the teeth on his upper jaw with a new set of double teeth.—Springfield Republican.

Electricity For Driving Ships.

"A use to which electricity might be put with advantage, I think, is in the propulsion of great steamships. This electric fan," said Mr. Bragg of the Westinghouse company, pointing to a little brass machine that sent a current of air the length of his office, "is built on the plan of a propeller. It makes 2,000 revolutions a minute; compare that with the greatest number of revolutions that the screws on our transatlantic greyhounds can make. The same hamper is on them that is on the steam locomotives. If those engines on shipboard could run dynamos and the motors be geared to the screws, then the rotary motion could be secured and the screws would go as fast as you please."—Washington Star.

Yacht With a History.

The president of San Domingo recently purchased a steam yacht, and named it El Presidente. But the trim little craft has a decidedly interesting history. It was formerly known as the Deerhound, and was present at the naval duel between the Kearsarge and Alabama. It rescued Captain Semmes, together with most of her crew, when the Alabama sank.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Score One For Bloomers.

A clergyman who evidently means well warns his feminine hearers to beware of the bicycle, "as it is certain to carry many evils in its train." This is indisputable. Anything like a train in connection with the bicycle will produce evils, which is why the young women are resorting to bloomers.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Merely a Suspicion.

One of the commercial new women has at one of the seashore resorts an electric fan for drying the hair of women bathers and is overrun by customers.—Detroit Free Press.

SIASCONSETT-IN-THE-SEA.

Mr. Munkittrick Pays His Regular Annual Tribute to the Sandy Shore.

[Special Correspondence.]

SIASCONSETT, Mass., Aug. 12.—Siasconsett is still floating in the sea safely anchored just opposite Spain, but far enough away to keep from being mixed up in the fortnightly West Indian revolution which keeps the manufacturers of arms from going into bankruptcy. After the usual summer swelter in New York I find it very comfortable here in an overcoat, not the leather overcoat with copper lining worn during the summer by the Jerseyman to keep the mosquito's scarfpin from penetrating the epidermis, but the light fairy overcoat which is the brother of the roseate summer drink which wafts one to fairyland. The peacock disports in his feather duster, and all is lovely as an infant's dream. Siasconsett is still Siasconsett, and that is the highest praise one can bestow upon it.

Nothing ever changes down here except the weather and $5 bills, but the former is the more easily changed, even by one who has never had professional experience in the weather bureau. Yesterday a man found a diamond pin that he lost last summer right on a beaten path. In New York it would have been caught on the fly while descending from the owner's scarf. If you were to stand tacks on their heads down here, the natives would never notice them or pick them up with their feet. As a result of the fine weather whale stories are larger than they were this time last year.

The bluefish are also running and swimming well. I saw an 11 pounder yesterday that was caught by a man who had wired a silver dollar on his hook. This shows that even bluefish are imbued by the spirit of the age in which we live. It is probably due to the fact that when close to shore they hear mercenary people discussing everything from the dollar point of view. One of the great charms of this place is the spirit of Americanism that pervades it from Sanpoty lighthouse to Underhill's china shop on the bluff. When you go to be shaved, you don't land on an earl and carom on a duke even in the barber. It is a great blessing, and one for which we should be duly thankful, that there are neither natural nor artificial noblemen here, and it is fortunate that the best markets for coronets and feudal castles are at Newport and Bar Harbor. The only royal personages recognized here are the kings and queens that abound in packs like foxhounds.

A beautiful macadamized road is now being laid from Nantucket to Siasconsett. About two miles of it are now finished, and next year, when it is completed, the bicycler will be in his element and never know a puncture. This will put the horses into cans for winter use, and the poor equines who have been trudging across the morass through the ruts will doubtless feel happier compounded as mock turtle and ox tail soup. This finely ballasted bluestone road frightens the horses in the same way that a large wholesome meal frightens a hungry man, and the drivers are now certain that they wasted the money they spent on their horses in former years for nervous prostration. They are so lively that they don't seem like Siassett horses, which will probably make them amenable sooner or later to some tyrannical blue law. About a week ago the stone crusher broke down, and since the date of that accident so anxious are they to push the good work ahead that they have been crushing the stone with lithia water.

The only mosquito I ever saw here must have come down with me from New Jersey in my boat. After I had gone to bed this Morristown nightingale began to play a drum solo upon my tinpanum until I thought I was back in my own house, around which the mosquitoes are so plentiful that I throw them in to the summer tenant without extra charge. When I heard the frou frou of this specimen and felt his tail feathers trailing softly along my nose, it made me sad and surcharged my soul with a melancholy about three sizes too large for it. But he didn't attempt to bite me. He seemed to rejoice in the fact that he was with me that knew his ways. And then I knew he was from New Jersey, for he perched upon my nose as if he would tenderly embrace me and began to cry in the bitterness of his woe. And as great saline tears dropped lovingly from his eyes into mine he sat on his hind legs like the leader of an orchestra and began intoning the names of the stations on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

But the mosquitoes of New Jersey, biting as they do with the sting of a tax collector, are not much greater in numbers than the prairie dogs will shortly be on this ocean island. They are multiplying like Italians, just at present, and when the native sees them eating the corn for which he charges the alien from New York 30 cents a dozen he immediately pulls the lobster pot out of the sea and sets it on the farm. A flock of these dogs will attack a fine green farm and in a few hours leave nothing intact but the utensils and the mortgage. Foxes and quail have also been put on the island. The former are now extinct here, and the quail were so greatly reduced in numbers last winter by the snow and cold weather that a law has been passed to protect them for three years, during which time the poor native must be thankful while he takes his toast straight. The weather is like that of September at the present time, and this is about the regular thing. It is a poor man's paradise, just as a bicycle is a poor man's four-in-hand. Were Sconsett nearer New York only millionaires could enjoy it, but down here millionaires can't enjoy it because, having all the money they want, they can't take the time to leave their shops. Therefore the poor man is a rich man down here—so rich that he doesn't know he's poor until he returns to the howling metropolis and dreams long and fondly of heather robed Siasconsett-in-the-Sea.

R. K. MUNKITTRICK.

HOME OF A MODERN MAGAZINE.

The Cosmopolitan Is Housed Handsomely at Irvington-on-the-Hudson.

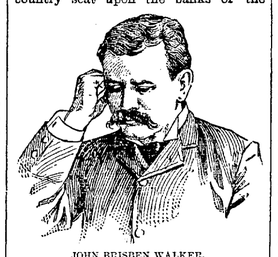
[Special Correspondence.]

IRVINGTON-ON-THE-HUDSON, Aug. 19.—There are many places of historic interest in this vicinity. Localities where heroic deeds were done in Revolutionary days are scattered about with lavish hand and often visited by patriotic pilgrims. Not far from the station, which nestles under the hills on the Hudson's eastern bank, is Sunnyside, the home of Washington Irving, toward which the steps of thousands every year are turned in reverent memory of him who was among the first to show the world that an American could write a worthy book. Both Sunnyside and the Revolutionary localities are well worth the attention of every patriotic American.

But Irvington now has another attraction, quite as interesting in its way as any of those mentioned, though thoroughly modern, and, in fact, rather more than up to date. This is the publishing house from which John Brisben Walker issues The Cosmopolitan Magazine. Mr. Walker is a member of that group of new school publishers who believe it possible to make a high class monthly periodical that may be profitably retailed at the astonishingly low price of 10 cents a number. He is not the pioneer in this direction, although he is doing pioneer publishing work in other ways. Mr. Walker's plan is quite novel in America and has no parallel anywhere unless one is furnished by the English publishing house of the poet Morris. Before Mr. Walker bought The Cosmopolitan its selling price had been 25 cents a number. For several years after he got it that rate was maintained. During that time the enterprise was apparently successful, but some two or three years ago he determined that to secure a really wide circulation, such as he craved, the price must be made so low that no one able to earn a living could rightly consider the magazine too costly for him to buy.

Accordingly the retail price of The Cosmopolitan was reduced to 12½ cents. The American News company, through which all the magazines are circulated, declined to handle a magazine retailing at a less price than this, or Mr. Walker would have adopted the 10 cent rate at that time. In order, however, to shave the price to a "York shilling" even he found it necessary to radically change the plan of production. Instead of giving out the printing to one house, the engraving to another, the electrotyping to another and the binding to another, he must do all this work for himself. Further, if he would save the heavy cartage and certain other expenses to which he was then subjected, he must remove the publication office from New York city.

He had already bought a fine old country seat upon the banks of the



JOHN BRISBEN WALKER.

Hudson, at Irvington, and after mature consideration he decided to erect here a building under whose roof should be carried on the editorial work and all the operations of typesetting, engraving, printing, binding, etc., necessary to the production of the magazine. Work was begun as soon as practicable, and the building has been pushed with vigor ever since. It has now been occupied for two or three months, and though its exterior walls are not yet finished it is in good shape inside, and the regular work of the establishment is methodically going forward. The building is three stories in height, is about 200 feet long, wide accordingly, is surrounded by classic colonnades and surmounted by three rounded domes. The walls are of brick, but when completed will be covered with a coat of portland cement and white sand, which will cause them to stand out in gleaming contrast to the green of the trees and the smooth shaven lawns in the midst of which it is set.

But notwithstanding the perfect taste displayed in the design of this building nothing whatever of the practical has been sacrificed. In every respect the printing office and the bindery are models of their sort. The pressroom is upon the ground floor, all of which, save a corner set apart for the engine room, is given up to the printing machines. These are ranged along either side of the really vast apartment and so disposed with reference to the windows that each press receives plenty of light and no pressman is without an abundance of good, fresh air. Whenever a large quantity of paper stock has to be stored it is placed in the center of the room, where there is ample space, in such a way as never to obstruct the light. The bindery on the next floor is arranged in exactly similar fashion, and upon the top floor, where the library, business office and editorial and composing rooms are situated, there is a somewhat similar and thoroughly sensible arrangement.

It is upon this floor that Mr. Walker and his immediate lieutenants do their work. Looking out in three directions, north, west and south, they can see the broad and majestic Hudson and the palisades of the western bank. From windows looking to the east exquisite beauties of woodland and sward, diversified with handsome villas and cozy cottages, are visible. I. D. MARSHALL.

One curious fact brought out by the report of public prosecutions in England is that the number of prosecutions for murder in 1894 was identically the same as in 1893, 62 men and 52 women having been proceeded against in each year.

American Grindstones.

A discovery has been made in South Dakota which will give employment to thousands of people in the United States and keep in this country many millions of dollars. The new industry is that of making the finer grades of grindstones, which have hitherto been imported from England, Bavaria and France. Quarries of stone have been recently found which supply stone equal to the finest grade imported. Specimens of the grindstones have been submitted to all the well known experts, who have agreed that no better grade of stone is in existence.

A DRAMA BY SPIRITS.

THE SHADE OF BARTLEY CAMPBELL WRITES A PLAY.

It Is Entitled "Miracula," and Will Shortly Be Put on the Boards at Lily Dale, N. Y. How Campbell Wrote the Play Through the Medium of a Living Man.

In the latter part of August a play will be put upon the boards at Lily Dale, N. Y., that everybody will be curious to see. It is a spiritistic drama, and it is no ordinary flesh and blood man or woman's production. At least so says its author—or, no, its scribe, I. Ransom Sanford, a western journalist and a spiritist of note. He says that the play, which bears the suggestive title of "Miracula," was written by the shade of Bartley Campbell. Not that the long dead and gone creator of "The White Slave," etc., actually rematerialized in Mr. Sanford's study and wrote the manuscript of "Miracula" with borrowed pen, ink and paper. Oh, no! It was not done in that way. The story of its creation, as told by Mr. Sanford, is well worth hearing or reading. Said he:

"I shall have to go back as far as the year 1868 and state that I was made aware of the possibility of spirit communion through the instrumentality of that queer little instrument that is called a planchette. I was a student at Fort Edward, on the Hudson, but had gone to my home in Michigan on a visit. My stepmother was a rigorous religionist, and I was surprised to find a planchette quietly reposing on a table in the dining room. 'What's this?' I asked her. 'Oh, that's a game that was given to your sister,' she replied indifferently. Now, I had heard of planchette and was a good deal amused by my stepmother's ignorance. I said to her, 'Let us sit down and see how it works.' She consented, and the result was astonishing. My own mother's name was spelled out the very first thing, and then this message, 'Your sister Annie is ill with typhoid fever at Fort Edward.' Neither of us at that time dreamed of such a thing, and yet it afterward proved to be the case. Another test of spirit presence was given that night through the planchette. A name was spelled which neither my mother nor myself recognized. 'We don't know you,' I said. 'You were too young to remember me,' was the reply. 'Ask your father about me.' I went in search of my father, and after racking his brains for awhile he recalled the memory of the man, with whom he had once been connected in an important land deal.

"I had always been a rebel against future damnation, and from that night I was a Spiritist, and soon afterward made a thorough study of psychic science. Two years ago I very unexpectedly to myself developed into an automatic writer. I was sitting in a seance room with a few friends one night, when my hand and arm began to shake in a way that attracted general attention. Some one suggested putting a pencil in my hand. They did so, and upon a piece of paper it automatically and very deliberately wrote, 'At last the ice is broken,' signed, 'Your Mother.' That was all that was written then, but after I went to my room I again felt the same peculiar sensation in my hand, and on taking a pencil in hand I mechanically wrote several pages of essays, which were all signed 'Spirit of Ralph Waldo Emerson.'

"Now I come to the writing of 'Miracula.' I was at Hazlet Park, Mich., last summer, and while there something said to me, 'Write a Spiritistic play.' I laughed at the idea and replied, 'I can't.' 'Yes, you can,' said the voice. 'We will help you.' I was studying to take part in an amateur comedy which was shortly to be produced, and a few days passed without hearing anything more of the Spiritistic play. But one night it occurred to me that I would dramatize a popular occult novel. Immediately my hand was controlled and wrote: 'We prefer to furnish both our plot and dialogue. We have both well in mind and will experience no difficulty if you will yield implicitly to our influence,' signed, 'Bartley Campbell.' 'All right,' I said, 'if Bartley Campbell wants to write a play through my hand, let him go ahead.' The next night my arm and hand were again controlled and wrote out a cast of characters and began the play. I was frequently interrupted and was often obliged to break off in the middle of a sentence, but at every minute of leisure the influence would take up its thread of the dialogue exactly where it had ended and go on. I—no, Bartley Campbell—wrote the play in from eight to ten days, and after it had been finished several weeks he named it 'Miracula.'"—Buffalo Express.

Three Kisses.

Childhood, upon her brow, dropp'd kisses sweet,
With crooning song, he lingered by her side,
And, with bright hope, her pulses wildly beat,
"Ah! this is life!" she cried.

Youth, from her gentle lips, drank kisses rare,
As warm as southern winds, that faintly blow,
And with soft fingers stroked her golden hair,
"'Tis love," she murmured low.

Age, with chill kisses, fann'd her furrowed face,
O'er her dim eyes she felt his icy breath.
Gently he clasped her in a close embrace—
She whispered, "This is death."

A Lump of Lead in His Stomach.

H. S. Buchanan, Decorator, 126 West Sixth street, Indianapolis, says: "For years, after eating, I would feel as if I had a lump of lead in my stomach. This, with a soureness rising into my mouth, would make me feel miserable beyond the power of words to tell. I have taken one box of LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS and it has done me a world of good. I can confidently recommend it to anyone afflicted with dyspepsia or stomach trouble of any kind.

GREAT MEMORIES.

Alexander the Great knew Homer by heart, and could repeat both the "Iliad" and the "Odyssey" from memory.

John Bunyon made himself very popular among his people by remembering them all. He said a face never left him.

Charlemagne could hold his tongue in eight different languages. He made a specialty of studying every language spoken in his empire.

Henry Clay knew personally and remembered the names of thousands of his constituents. It was his strong point during a canvass.

Bulwer-Lytton knew all the odes and other poems of Horace by heart. He translated large portions of Horace's poems into English verse.

Jeremy Taylor memorized his sermons so easily that it was said of him he began to commit his sermon to memory when the first bell for service rang.

Cleopatra is said to have spoken all the languages used by her subjects, together with Latin and Greek. Altogether she understood eleven or twelve.

Max Muller knew eighteen different languages to the extent of being able to speak or write in any one, and a considerable number in addition less perfectly.

Lincoln's memory for the details of national business was unexampled. He recalled the particulars of every Cabinet meeting with the most scrupulous exactness.

Admirable Crichton is said to have been the master of all the arts and sciences of his day. He was able to converse and dispute in argument in twelve languages.

John Wesley remembered the names of many hundreds of the members of his societies, and was rarely at fault when addressed by any one whom he had met before.

Mithridates is said to have known by name every soldier in his army of 10,000 to 20,000 men. He spoke twenty-two different languages, all that were used in his kingdom.

Hadn't Thought of That.

Several nights ago a well-known physician bought a package of peanuts from a Main street peddler, and while the man was measuring out his purchase the doctor drew a cigar from his pocket and proceeded to light it.

The peddler looked at him with a sorrowful expression on his face. "They don't smoke in heaven," he said.

"No," answered the doctor, "neither do they sell peanuts."—Buffalo Courier.

A NEW DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Over 6,000 People in State of Michigan Cured in 1894 by this New Preparation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new discovery for stomach troubles, is claimed to have cured over 6,000 people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894. These tablets have become so popular with physicians and people who have any form of indigestion that they have the endorsement of such physicians as Dr. Harlandson and Dr. Jennison as being the safest, most reliable remedy for sour stomach, chronic dyspepsia, gas, bloating, palpitation, headache, constipation, and in all cases where the appetite is poor or the food imperfectly digested.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any kind of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. They are not a secret patent medicine but composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin, Golden Seal, ginger and the digestive acids. They are pleasant to take, can be carried in the pocket, and they cure because they digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and poison the blood.

Druggists everywhere sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 Cents. A book on Stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing The Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

BRIGHT LIFE ENDED.

William Wise Succumbs to Typhoid Fever.

Excursionists Injured by a Boat Collision—Tramps Prevent a Train Wreck—Local Gossip.

William H. Wise, aged nineteen years, died early this morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac B. Wise, of 13 Smith street. Six weeks ago the deceased was taken with typhoid fever and after a tedious illness, during which his devoted mother was constantly at his bedside, he passed the crisis stage in that fearful disease, as the parents and attending physician supposed, and was rapidly regaining his health. A few days ago, however, he suffered a relapse and grew rapidly worse until this morning, when death relieved him of his sufferings. William was a most exemplary young man, being, sober, studious and industrious and his untimely death is indeed a severe blow not only to the bereaved family, but to a large circle of friends and the community in general. He was, for some months previous to his late illness, employed at the Bowser Oil Tank works. The funeral will be held from the house next Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock. The bereaved father is foreman of the tank department of the Pittsburg shops.

EXCURSIONISTS BADLY INJURED.

The Ada excursion to Put-in-Bay Saturday ended in sorrow to half a dozen or more families. As the steamer City of Toledo was entering the Maumee river upon her return trip, she was run into by the schooner Madeline T. Downing, and six of the excursionists were injured, two of them so badly that there is but little chance for their recovery. The injured are Mrs J. L. Miller, Mrs. John Sanderson, Miss Anna Zimmerman, Miss Grace Garwood, Miss Jessie Jackson and Miss Nellie Garwood. Mrs Miller resides in Bucyrus, Ohio, and the rest of the unfortunates are residents of Ada, Ohio. Mesdames Miller and Sanderson, it is thought, will not recover. Several of the ladies are related to some of the Pittsburg trainmen and are known here.

THE REQUIREMENTS OF A MOTORMAN.

A street railroad president in St. Louis says: "The general introduction of electricity has brought the officers and men of the street roads into closer relation. It takes a higher order of intelligence to manage a trolley than it does to drive a mule. We have regular schools of instruction now which the men must attend, and this has brought the best of them forward. Ability is quickly detected by the questions asked and the interest taken, and wherever ability is found it is marked for promotion. The school of instruction is steadily reducing the percentage of accidents, and we expect to get this average below the old average on horse car lines. Drink has been absolutely prohibited among employees, and the well remembered mulewhacker, whose capacity for whisky was only exceeded by his versatility in profanity, is of the past. He has been weeded out."

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Last Saturday Leslie Lozier boarded a Lake Shore freight train at Kendallville to ride to Newville, Ind., his home. He climbed upon a box car and seated himself upon it, with his feet dangling over the end. Before the train had gotten out of the town Lozier fell off the car and the wheels severed the lower limbs. Some women witnessed the accident and summoned surgical aid, but the man lived only a few minutes. Lozier was the son of a well known farmer living near Newville.

HAS A WARM FEELING FOR THE TRAMP.

There is said to be an old engineer running through Hartford City over the Panhandle who has a warm spot in his heart for a tramp and never orders one off the train. He owes his life to tramps. But for tramps he would have been responsible for a bad wreck.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

He forgot orders to stop and take a siding. He was coming down hill with a heavy train the other side of Logansport, when he saw a headlight ahead, and then he realized his mistake. He whistled for brakes, steam was shut off, the engine revered and the engineer and fireman got down on the steps to jump. They found the banks too steep and a jump would mean certain death. Then they started to run back over the cars and noticed that the train was slowing up rapidly. And it was the tramps getting in their work. There were twenty-five of them and each one was at a brake tugging for dear life. The train was slowed up so that when the two trains came together there was no damage done. Ever since then he has been willing to divide his last crust of bread with a tramp.

THE WABASH EXCURSION.

The Wabash excursion to Toledo yesterday was more of a success than the railway officials anticipated, there being about 800 people on the train when it pulled into Toledo. The people of Wabash and Huntington patronized the excursion more liberally yesterday than they did the one of last month and when the train reached this city there were over 200 people aboard. There were sold here 346 tickets, and the balance of the 800 was made up at Defiance and points between that city and Fort Wayne. Owing to the fact that the greater portion of the excursionists resided in Indiana, the profits of the excursion were greater than those of former similar events. There was not a single accident during the day.

BRIEF MENTION.

H. A. McCollem, of the Wabash machine shop, spent Sunday in Toledo.

Sickness keeps Peter Convoy from his duties in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

Machinist John Thompson, of the Bass works, has returned from Niagara Falls.

Passenger engines 70, 202 and 114 are in the Pennsylvania shops being repainted.

Boilermaker Jacob Bacles is sick and off duty. He is employed in the Pittsburg shops.

Machinist Herman Regel resumed work in the Bass shops this morning, after a week's sojourn at Rome City.

On account of the illness of his baby, Blacksmith W. VanAllen is unable to report for duty at the Pittsburg shops.

The bending department of the Standard wheel works is closed today for repairs to the machinery and line shafting.

This week the street fair will be held at Peru and all the roads leading to that city are making a special rate to that point.

George Killen sud a couple of friends are enjoying a hunt in the wilds of Monroe township. He is a Pittsburg blacksmith.

William Volkening, the blacksmith who had a hand injured a week ago, resumed his duties at the Bass works this morning.

Charles King, clerk at the Bass offices, resumed his duties this morning. He returned from Niagara Falls Saturday night.

Mrs. Henry Zauner, wife of the machinist at the Spy Run power station, has gone to Toledo to spend two weeks with her parents.

Master Mechanic and Mrs Barrey Fitzpatrick, of Columbus, Ohio, were guests of Fort Wayne friends at Rome City over Sunday.

George White is looking after the duties of Pricing Clerk Lewis Dailey, of the Pittsburg shops, during the absence of that gentleman.

Clem Elsie, the Pittsburg brakeman who had a hand injured a short time ago, is spending a few days with friends and relatives in Huntington.

Andy Koontz has recovered from the effects of ivy poison and this morning resumed work in the Pittsburg paint shop after three days' absence.

Master Car Builder James A. Graham, of the Pennsylvania shops, has returned to his duties after spending a two weeks' vacation in the east.

Peru Chronicle: "John Boyle and Tim Doud are home from Fort Wayne, where they have been working on the Muncie division of the Lake Erie."

Rhinesmith & Simonson closed a contract Saturday to furnish the material, doors, frames and window sashes for a church to be built at Montpelier, Ind.

Ben Armack, Charlie Ball and A. J. Dawson, of the Pittsburg machine shop, have returned from Atwood, Ind., where they had great success in catching fish.

A bright little daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lerch, 353 East Wayne street, Sunday morning. Mr. Lerch is a machinist employed in the Bass works.

Mrs. Horace Walton, wife of the well known Pennsylvania trainman, is quite ill.

Engineer John Bechtol, of the Pittsburg, is off duty on account of the death of a relative.

Harry Templar and John Dalton, of the electric offices, are not at their desks today, owing to sickness.

Engineer Frank Carman, of Wabash switch engine 267, is quite ill. He was taken sick suddenly last Saturday evening.

Harry Quicksell, agent of the Star Union Freight line, has returned to the city and resumed his duties, after a sojourn at Bement, Ill.

Frank Cummins has returned from Jefferson, S. D., and this morning resumed his duties as telegrapher in Master Mechanic F. W. Morse's office.

Railway detectives are kept busy nowadays, while fruits in large quantities are being shipped, watching sneak thieves, who are on the alert for opportunities to plunder the box cars in which they are carried.

During the absence of Isaac B. Wise, Louis Stetter is acting as foreman of the tank department of the Pittsburg shops. The particulars of the bereavement which has befallen Mr. Wise will be found at the head of these column.

Charles Burchard, foreman of the car repairers at the east car shops, received a painful cut across the nose and cheek Saturday afternoon by running against some pieces of tin which were lying upon a car and which extended over the side.

Eastbound Nickel Plate train No. 6 ran in two sections last night, there being more than the usual number of passengers and baggage. The second section only carried one coach, the balance of the train being made up of baggage cars.

It is the peculiarity of Russian railways that their stations are generally two miles distant from the towns and villages which they serve. This is said to be on account of the danger of fire, the houses in small places generally being thatched with straw.

Blacksmith Frank Opatz, of the Pittsburg shops, was off duty today, engaged in the pleasant pastime of taking down and putting up stove pipes and wrestling with furniture. After today his friends can find him on East Lewis street, near the U. B. church.

S. E. Nicholson, author of the temperance law, has applied to the railroads for a clergyman's half-rate permit. He is not a minister, but asks for the concession on account of the Law and Order league. The question has been referred to the higher officials.

Owing to the increased demands made upon the machinery in the testing department of the electric works, the millwrights were employed all Saturday and Sunday in putting the line shafting and appurtenances in shape, commensurate with the new order of things.

L. F. Neuroth, of the Wabash shops, and his son spent Sunday with William Zeh at Peru. Mr. Zeh is the gentleman who suffered a paralytic stroke while working in the Wabash shops a few months ago. His friends here will be pleased to hear that he is improving and may recover.

On August 9 a passenger train of the Chicago, Fort Madison and Des Moines was detained an hour by a swarm of hornets which attacked the engineer and fireman as the train was moving slowly on an ascending grade. The car windows were open and many passengers were stung.

Rhinesmith & Simonson's factory is now engaged in making the does and interior woodwork for the new Lau block, at the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets. The lower floor will be finished with oak and the upper floors with southern pine, and they will be very handsome.

Dr. George C. Siemen was summoned to the Pittsburg shops late Saturday afternoon, where he found Patrick O'Brien, the well known blacksmith, suffering from an ugly scalp wound. The unfortunate man was struck by a door which fell from a freight car. It required several stitches to close the gapping wound.

F. Reul Baldwin, of New York, who has been in the city combining business and pleasure for the past week, left last night for his home. Mr. Baldwin is the eastern representative of the Bass Foundry and Machine works and during the past year has sold many engines for the company. He reports the business outlook as exceedingly encouraging.

Ticket brokers at Chicago are boasting that notwithstanding the restrictions placed around the harvest excursion tickets by the western roads, they will be able to do an immense business in them. They claim to have discovered a way of getting around the restrictions so as to make the tickets so easily handled as any that have been placed upon the market.

At 9:30 o'clock Saturday night fire broke out in the house of James A Slagle, No. 175 Wells street, and before the flames could be subdued, the property was damaged to the extent of about $200. The fire started in some mysterious manner in the sitting room, when the family was down town. Mr. Slagle is a car repairer and is employed by the Lake Shore Railway company.

A bouquet of rare and beautiful flowers adorns the desk of Foreman P. J. Scheid, of the Pittsburg round house. The flowers came from the gardens of Councilman Tony Kelker and included is as fine a specimen of the night blooming cerus as was ever produced in this city. It measures over eight inches across the face when open. Mr. Kelker had eight of these flowers in bloom last night.

ROSY IS THE OUTLOOK

EVERY INDICATION OF BIG BUSINESS IN THE FUTURE.

Crop Reports Most Flattering—Wall Street Bulls Expect an Old Fashioned Campaign, and Their Hope Is High—What the Veterans Say.

Of all the reports on the crop situation issued during the year by the general government or the various states those for August and September are considered the most momentous. The statements of the agricultural bureau at Washington are given out on the 10th of each month. The figures just furnished fully bear out the flattering accounts received by telegraph and mail from responsible sources as well as the hopeful expressions of prominent railway officials who have returned from tours of inspection over various big systems. The increase in money value of this year's crops will be enormous, and upon this one fact more than anything else is predicated the absorption of securities and the great strength of the markets. As the farmer will receive fair compensation for his labor he will be in a position to spend more for the necessaries and luxuries of life. This will be good for the country storekeeper, which will be a starting point for improvement that will be felt in every ramification of trade and finance. Success of the agricultural class has been the underlying cause for prosperity at all stages, and the railroads no less than the merchant and laborer must benefit greatly during the next year or 18 months if the August crop estimates are not seriously cut down by future damage by the elements. The corn crop happens to be the most important of all this year, as a bounteous yield means a plentiful supply of meats, which enter so largely into our export trade, and which will sooner or later result in the return of some of the gold forwarded to Europe in the past year.

As has been pointed out more than once, comparatively few brokers and speculators really know what a genuine bull campaign is like, and they are foolishly enough gauging their operations now by the sporadic rallies that have occurred off and on during the past few years. They profess to believe that the enhancement in values since the adjournment of congress in March last has more than discounted the enormous addition to the country's wealth by the phenomenal harvest, now in progress, and they persist in fighting the rise. The older heads know better and are inclined to give the bears all the rope they want, with the firm conviction that the more leeway the latter are given the quicker will they hang themselves. Probably the best criterion of the situation is the fact that, while the professional element keeps on selling short, those closely identified with the railroads are buying securities and that powerful bankers and their friends are backing the market.

All those who make any pretext of keeping up with the times know that the old substantial dividend payers, like Lake Shore, Northwest and St. Paul preferred, New York and New Haven, Morris and Essex, Lackawanna and Delaware and Hudson, long since passed from brokers' offices into the tin boxes of investors, and that there is no longer any field for speculation in that class. They also see that the same thing is now going on in stocks which, while paying dividends for a number of years, are selling at comparatively low prices, because they are not yet well known to investors. There is every reason to believe, therefore, that the granger stocks, Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred, Lake Erie and Western preferred, Western Union and Manhattan will become scarce, and that all properties having the advantage of good management and geographical position will, in time, move to a higher level. Investors who are looking for income and speculators who prefer to trade in stocks the dividends on which pay the cost of carrying or more are devoting their attention to such shares as those just named.

At the same time low priced stocks are growing more and more in favor, and Missouri Pacific, Texas Pacific, Wabash, Canada Southern, Pittsburg and Western preferred, Omaha, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Hocking Valley and Southern Railway are destined to come to the front before a great while, provided, of course, nothing untoward happens to the growing crops. On the other hand, Erie is gradually settling down to where it belongs, in view of the probable levying of a $12 assessment, without anything in the way of new securities to show for it, and Northern Pacific preferred seems destined to work down to where other bankrupt properties have gone, since the stockholders in this case also are confronted with the probability amounting almost to a certainty of a $15 cash assessment. The chances here, too, are that nothing will be given to represent this large payment, and when the plan of reorganization is made public those who look for any other result will be disappointed. Nothing definite is known concerning Reading matters, but the fact that the coal trade is acknowledged to be in poor shape and that the companies will lose a good part of the year's profits unless they soon reach an understanding renders it tolerably certain that the bankers having the Reading in charge will promptly reach a conclusion of some sort.—New York World.

Death as Read In the Face.

A rather curious discovery has been made with reference to soldiers killed in battle. On the authority of several English army surgeons it can be stated that the cause of death is clearly shown in the expression of the face of a corpse on the battlefield.

Those who have been killed by sword thrusts have a look of repose. If it was a bullet that brought the soldier to earth, pain, often of the most frightful nature, is clearly depicted.

DRESS GOODS!

There's news enough about them to fill this paper. For days the new ones have been tumbling in on us so fast as to hardly allow us to get them placed in the shelves. This great stock is the accumulation and buying of months of preperation. We anticipate a great Dress Goods business this fall and have thoroughly prepared for it. Already many lovely novelties have been sold.

Among the thousands on the Shelves and Counters there is something to please—and they are all new.

Here's an idea of some of them:

CRIPILLE MOHAIR

A fabric woven of two or three shades and raised figures and stripes. Price $1.75.

SCOTCH MIXED CHECKS.

A beautiful combination of colors for tailor suits, Price $1.35.

REP PLAIDS.

Smooth finish stuffs, Scotch colorings with bars of gold, or some bright shades Price 85c to $1.25.

FRENCH NOVELTY PLAIDS.

Most stylish Boude effects—that is, various colors woven and interwoven into a ground of rich colorings upon the surface of which have been thrown little loops of different shades, the effect being very rich, Prices $1.50 up to $3.50.

SILK AND WOOL NOVELTIES

In mixtures and checks, 40 inches wide, the richest goods at the price we have ever shown, Price 50c.

ROSINDA SUITINGS

Checks and mixtures, about 50 styles are shown in as many different colorings, all wool, Price 40c.

EQUITY SUITINGS

36 inches wide, all wool, black or dark grounds, shot over with bright colors, Price 37½c.

JAMESTOWN NOVELTIES.

Here is the goods for the masses—200 pieces on display, showing the most charming novelties in low price fabrics, noted for good wear ever put upon the counters. A big showing of these will be made in the windows, Price 37½c.

100 dozen fine Fast Black Stockings, which are well worth 25 cents a pair—a stocking showing merit. We place on sale at 18 cents a pair, or we give 3 pairs for

50 Cents.

Girls Wash Dresses

Made of neat Ginghams, ages 3 8 years, 25 cents each--couldn't get the goods for the money.

EMBROIDERED FLANNELS.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Philley and children have gone to Chicago to be the guests of a few days of Mrs. Philley's parents, who reside there.

The Ladies' Aid society, auxiliary to Col. E. S. Walker camp, No. 159, Sons of Veterans, will give a sunflower social at the Grand Army hall, on Wednesday evening.

Christ and August Deuter, of Chicago, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Christian Kramer, of 380 East Wayne street, returned to their home last evening, after a pleasant visit of three weeks.

The hearing of Daniel Staub, who was arrested at Decatur, Friday, for violations of the postal laws, was begun before United States Commissioner Leonard, but owing to the failure of certain important witnesses to appear, the case was continued until next Thursday.

An express company of Chicago is about to start a new system for the delivery of light parcels within the city limits. Tricycles will be used instead of express wagons, and it is believed a great saving in time will be effected. The new vehicles are specially designed for the work and can be moved almost as fast as a safety "bike" over ordinary roads.

Last evening at the Congregational church Rev. J. S. Ainslie, the pastor, delivered a discourse upon the subject, "The Sanctity of the Body, and Shall Our Bodies be Cremated." It was a most interesting and able discussion of the question of the cremation of the dead, which has lately come into prominence by reason of its having been introduced to some extent at different places. The SENTINEL will give a synopsis of Mr. Ainslie's sermon tomorrow.

Joseph Millspaugh, of the Anderson Natural Gas company, who is summering in Michigan, last Saturday called up his office over the long distance telephone, and his favorite dog happening to be in the office, the animal was placed on the table and given a chance to hear his master's voice. The dog recognized the first notes and was delirious with delight. Since that time he has haunted the telephone, and whenever the bell tinkles he is the first to bounce toward the table.

Nearly forty years ago, William Nicholson, a wealthy Englishman, expended $40 000 in building a home two miles south of Crown Point, but after living in it for two years, he suddenly vacated the property, and since that time the house has been practically without a tenant. It became known as a haunted house, and although families would occasionally lease it, their occupancy was always brief, while nothing could ever induce them to return. The hugh structure is now a mass of ruins. The windows, doors and ceilings have fallen, the underpinning is rotting out, and the surroundings are in a most wretched state. The tract covers forty acres of good land, which time and again has been offered rent free, but no one can be found bold enough to undertake cultivation. The up-stairs of the building is the place where the ghosts are believed to play hide-and seek, and after nightfall the screams of women are heard, with other uncanny noise.

Miss Laura Smith has gone to Delphi to visit her grandparents.

Phil H. Hyman, the gent's furnishing dealer, has been on the sick list for a few days.

The Misses Estella Stierheim and Mary Leach are visiting friends at Princeton, Ill.

Miss Velma Ohneck has returned from Detroit where she has been visiting friends for a month.

Sheriff Clausmeier has taken Mary Close, who was adjudged insane, to the Richmond insane asylum.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hanley, of Indianapolis, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hanley, of Wallace street.

No police court was held this morning. Not an arrest was made by the officers Saturday night or Sunday.

Mrs. Kittie Collins and baby, of Valparaiso, are the guests of Mrs. Collins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Polhamus.

Fred Miller, formerly with the Seavey Hardware company, has accepted a position with Morgan & Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ward, of 108 Wallace street, have returned to Chicago, their home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Boyles and two sons, of Chicago, are the guests of Mr. Boyles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Boyles, No. 35 Miner street.

Mrs. J. E. Miller, of Wallace and Lafayette streets, has returned from Carroll, Ohio, where she was the guest of the doctor's father about six weeks.

Misses Emma Koegel and Lou Traub accompanied Miss Minnie Witzkey to her home in Detroit yesterday. The latter was visiting here two or three weeks.

Prof. W. J. Lewis, formerly principal of the Windsor Business college, has been engaged to take charge of the shorthand department at the International Business college.

Mrs. A. M. Baxter and daughter Murriel, of 30 Columbia avenue, together with her sister, Miss Fannie Tarmon, of 86 East Wayne street, are visiting friends in Toledo.

Mr. Randall, a railroad engineer and "lay preacher" of the M. E. church south, occupied the pulpit of the Berry street church last evening. His discourse was an earnest and practical one, and well pleased all who heard it.

Mrs. Oscar H. Lilley, of 222 Madison street, received a telegram yesterday afternoon announcing the death of her father at Albion, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Lilley left today over the Lake Shore to attend the funeral, which will take place on Tuesday afternoon.

Frank Dwelly, of this city, joined the Trilby opera company in New York, which opened the season at the Boston museum last Monday. They are playing a two weeks' engagement, and Frank writes friends in this city that the company is meeting with great success.

On Monday, Aug. 12, J. I. C. Weidler and C. F. Fought left Carlisle, Pa., upon their wheels and arrived in Fort Wayne on Saturday night of the same week. They are visiting Mr. Preston Chapman and friends around Fort Wayne. They left on their wheels for home this morning.

THE SENTINEL has been shown a certificate from Justice of the Peace Louis Huser, of this city, certifying to the fact that Charles Gross, of the Indiana Furniture company, was not one of the men who made affidavit before him against John Meeks, as was reported in some of the papers at the time. Mr. Gross was out of the city at the time the case was commenced, he being on a fishing expedition of three weeks then in the eastern part of the state.

The Young Men's Christian association has arranged for a large excursion to the Winona assembly, Eagle Lake, next Thursday. This furnishes an opportunity for all to enjoy a day's outing at this beautiful resort with boating, fishing and bathing and at the same time hear the great J. Wilbur Chapman and his assistant, "Billy" Sunday, the celebrated fielder of the Chicago team. The rate of $1 00 for the round trip, including admission to grounds, has been secured. Good on any regular train.

Rev. R. D. Spellman, wife and daughter, Mrs L M. Jones, have returned from Bay View, where they had been enjoying an outing of several weeks. A few days before leaving the reverend gentleman had a narrow escape from drowning, having been thrown into the lake while leaving a pleasure steamer. Just as he was stepping from the steamer to the wharf the boat pushed off, and Mr. Spellman missed his footing and fell into the water. Fortunately, he was able to swim, and he kept himself up until help came. Mr. Spellman is almost eighty-two years of age, but he is very vigorous for a man of such years, and no evil effects resulted from his enforced plunge. An amusing account of his experience appeared in the Winchester Herald, written by Dr. Spellman.

Superintendent of Police Liggett is celebrating the fifty-second anniversary of his birth today. He is in especially good humor with himself and all mankind, but it might not be safe for evildoers to bank very largely upon that fact. They might be surprised.

Miss Lillie Smith, of Stophlet street, who recently returned from Ohio and Michigan, where she spent the summer, was the victim of a surprise party by her young friends last Friday evening. There were about twenty in the party and all enjoyed the occasion very much.

A Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was organized yesterday afternoon at the North Side mission and the following officers were elected: President, Fred Barthold; vice president, Miss Lottie Bischoff; secretary, Charles Heathman; treasurer, Miss Myrtle Weaver. Cottage prayer meetings will be held every Tuesday evening.

General Manager Perry, of the Western Union, is putting on airs in his new location, in the Tri State building. The room is being fitted up in an elegant manner and the furniture is of the latest and newest designs. The commodore is already becoming proud, but he continues to address his friends in that suave and persuasive manner peculiar to himself alone.

Fort Wayne Business College offers superior advantages to young men and women, in all the common branches. More graduates are located annually in office work and business pursuits than from all other agencies combined.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The Estimates for the Year Made on a $1 Levy.

The Budget to be Placed Before the City Council at Its Session Tomorrow Evening.

The city common council meets in regular session tomorrow evening, the first session that has been held during the month of August. At this session will be presented the estimates of the city administration as to the revenue necessary for the conduct of the city business for the next twelve months. The estimates have been based on a levy of $1 and it is quite probable that the figure will be accepted by the council. This is a reduction of last year's levy, and while under it not everything can be done that is desired, it is not thought that the city's interest will suffer, but that it will be sufficient for all necessary purposes. The estimates will be sent to the council with a message from Mayor Oakley, in which he will give his views as well as an explanation of the reasoning of the board in making up the budgets. The document to be presented estimates the total receipts for the next year at $248,037.40, and the expenditures at $232,981 45. Thus it is seen that the boards have kept the expenses within the limit, a policy which is commendable. Nothing else, however, would be satisfactory to the common council, and that is the body which acts finally upon this matter anyhow.

HEALTH RULES.

Frances E. Willard Consults an Eminent London Physician.

The hygienic rules laid down by Sir Andrew Clark, one of the leading physicians of London, for Miss Frances E. Willard, who was in a state of nervous exhaustion, may well contain some hints for less distinguished sufferers:

"On first waking in the morning sip about half a pint of water, hot or cold; on rising take a tepid sponge bath, followed by a brisk, general toweling. Clothe warmly and loosely. Avoid chills, damp and passive exposure to cold. Take three simple, nourishing meals daily, and nothing between them. Breakfast at 8 to 9, plain or whole meal bread or toast and butter, with eggs or fresh fish or cold chicken or game or tongue, fresh, not preserved, and toward the close of the meal about half a pint of tea, not infused over five minutes, or of cocoatina or of coffee and milk.

"Dinner from 1 to 2 o'clock, fresh, well dressed meat, potato, some well boiled green vegetable, if it agrees, and either some simple farinaceous pudding or some simply cooked fruits. Toward the close of the meal drink water.

"High tea, five to six hours after dinner, whole-meal bread or toast and butter, with broiled fish or cutlets, or a chop of cold meat or cold chicken, and toward the close of the meal about half a pint of black China tea, not infused over five minutes; cocoatina or cocoa nibs may be substituted for tea if it is preferred and if it agrees.

"Nothing after this meal except that, on going to bed, you may sip a tumblerful of water, hot or cold.

"Avoid soups, sauces, pickles, spices, curries; salted, smoked, tinned or otherwise prepared foods; pies, pastry, cheese, creams, ices, jams, dried fruits, nuts, raw vegetables, compotes, ginger beer, much liquid of any sort, and all sour, sweet and effervescent drinks.

"Walk at least half an hour twice daily.

"Retire as soon as possible after 10 See that your room is airy. Avoid self-notice and self-distrust. Shun ease and lead a full and regular, an active and occupied life. Take nothing between meals. Never take a sleeping draught. Take as little medicine as possible; accept your sufferings; strength is perfected in weakness; in labor you will find life."

GAME LAWS.

Indians Have the Right to Hunt on Unoccupied Lands.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—It has been definitely decided by the Indian bureau that no attention will be paid to the game laws of Wyoming where they come into conflict with the treaty of the United States with the Bannock and Shoshone Indians. The attorney general, after considering the matter, has informed the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of Indian affairs that the rights of the Indians to hunt on unoccupied lands, in his opinion, are unquestionable, and that he considers that the state of Wyoming has no power to limit or abridge this right. No definite steps to enforce this determination have been decided upon, further than that the instructions to the United States district attorneys to secure the release of Indians now in custody on writs of habeas corpus probably will be supplemented by an order to do the same thing in case any arrest is made in the future. The bureau will discourage hunting by the Indians as far as possible and at present no passes will be issued permitting the braves to leave the reservation. It is probable that a small number of soldiers will be kept in the Jackson Hole country during the remainder of the hunting season, and if it should be deemed advisable at any time to permit the Indians to leave the reservation to hunt, the whites, probably, will not be permitted to molest them. It is hoped, however, that the work on the irrigation ditch, soon to be contracted for, will furnish occupation and money for the Indians and make hunting unnecessary for their maintenance during the winter. No immediate trouble is anticipated, as the Indians now are all on their reservations and are likely to remain there for the present.

City officials have received magnificently printed programs announcing the second annual meeting of the association of boards of public works and similar officials of the United States, to be held at Cincinnati on September 11 and 12 Elaborate preparations have been made by the officers of Cincinnati for the entertainment of their guests. A number of Fort Wayne officers have expressed their determination to attend the meeting. The association was organized at a meeting held at Buffalo, N. Y., last year.

The Misses Grace Monahan, Helen O'Rourke, Myra Smith, Bessie Cherry and Daisy Ball have returned from Rome City, where they spent a very pleasant week with Miss Ella Keil at the Keil cottage. Miss Ball resides in Lock Haven, Pa., and is the guest of Miss Cherry.

POLITICAL LEADERS

Gathering for the Pennsylvania Republican Convention.

The Gray Matter Excited Over the Reported Defections From Their Ranks.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 26.—Delegates, political leaders and sightseers from all over the state are arriving in great numbers today, and the indications are that the republican state convention on Wednesday will be the largest in point of attendance ever held in the state. There is much talk of bribery, and the busy people are greatly exercised over reported defections from their ranks. They appear to be afraid the other side is investing large sums of money in this way. On the other hand the administration leaders say Senator Quay's bribery talk is an evidence of weakness, and an illustration of the hopeless character of his contest. "He is preparing to explain his downfall after the convention," said a Hastings man. The administration people are beginning to suspect that Senator Quay is not sincere in his announced intention to permit the nomination of the superior court judges appointed by Gov. Hastings without opposition. The presence here of S. A. Davenport, of Erie; Whitworth, of Armstrong, and others mentioned in connection with the new court, leaves them to think that a scheme is being arranged to dump several of the judges. Ex-Magistrate Durham, Quay's first lieutenant, says the roll of delegates prepared by Chairman Gilkeson is grossly unfair so far as Philadelphia is concerned. He declares that it is an unprecedented act for a chairman to make up a roll before he receives his credentials. He thinks all the names or none should have been placed on the roll.

Gilkeson has retained Robert Sandgrass, of Harrisburg, to represent him in the proceedings which will be instituted in court this afternoon to compel him to surrender all books and documents belonging to the state committee. Senator Quay remains close to his rooms at the Lochiel hotel in conference with his friends. He has the general direction of his campaign and is hopeful of success. The Gilkeson people are just as hopeful of winning. They have made the executive mansion a sort of headquarters. Here Governor Hastings receives delegates and politicians friendly to him. The state committee will meet at 3 o'clock to prepare the roll. If Gilkeson refuses to attend the committee will have proceedings against him. Congressman Robinson has a scheme to require of each member the amount of money Gilkeson gave their county in the last gubernatorial campaign. It is expected that the meeting will be highly sensational.

TWO SHOCKING DEEDS.

An Unknown Man Murdered in Pittsburg.

D. W. Knoll Becomes Despondent and Seeks Rest in a Suicide's Grave.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26.—D. W. Knoll, thirty-seven years old, of Erie, Pa., a traveling agent for the Travelers' Insurance company, committed suicide last night by cutting his throat from ear to ear at the residence of A. W. Powers, the local agent of the Travelers' company, at 123 Euclid avenue. Despondency is the only cause known for the deed.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 26.—A mysterious murder was committed today in "Yellow Row," a notorious building on Second avenue. An unknown man was enticed into the building, shot in the head and cut his throat, and was then thrown into the street from a second story window. His neck was broken and his skull fractured by the fall. William Boyce and wife, who were detected wiping a bloody knife, were arrested.

SAVED HIS LIFE.

President Cleveland Steps Between an Indian and Death.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The president has commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of Cephus Wright, a full blood Choctaw Indian, convicted of murder by the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Texas and sentenced to be hanged September 13. Wright was twice sentenced to be hanged, the execution of the sentence being deferred by appeal to the supreme court from September 23, 1894, the first date fixed. The president rises as his reason for the commutation Wright's ignorance of the English language and laws and lack of realization of the enormity of the offense.

NEW STEEL BOAT.

The Lackawanna Company Nearing Completion.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The contract for another big steel boat was closed by the Chicago Ship Building company today. The new boat will be built for Captains C. W. Elphicke and Arthur, of Chicago, and M. M. Drake, of Buffalo, general manager of the Lackawanna line. Its dimensions are to be 526 feet keel, 545 feet over all, 42 feet beam and 29½ feet deep.

WORK OF ANARCHISTS.

An Infernal Machine Sent to Baron De Rothschild.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The efforts of the police to discover the authors of the attempt upon the life of Baron Alphonse de Rothschild on Saturday afternoon last, by sending him an infernal machine disguised as a mail package, which exploded when opened by the banker's confidential clerk, M. Jeakowitz, have proved unavailing up to the present time. The authorities, however, are confident that it was the work of anarchists, and three suspected anarchists have been arrested, examined and obliged to give the police specimens of their handwriting. They were subsequently discharged. M. Jeckowits continues to improve.

HOLT'S WILL.

After Many Years, is Found in Unexpected Quarters.

Generals Grant and Sherman Were Witnesses to the Instrument--The Estate Worth $150,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The will of the late Joseph Holt, who was judge advocate general of the United States during the war, was filed today. The instrument was witnessed twenty years ago by Generals Grant and Sherman and Mrs. Sherman. The estate, valued at about $150,000, is left to Lizzie Hines, a niece, and Josephine Hart Timmerman, a god-child.

Judge Holt was a Kentuckian, but for twenty-five years lived in this city. He died here several months ago, leaving considerable property but no will, so far as the most diligent search could discover. Arrangements were made accordingly for its division among his nearest relatives. This morning the register of wills received in the mail a letter containing an old, faded and partially burned sheet of paper, which on examination purported to be an old will of Judge Holt's. There was no communication accompanying the paper to show the sender or the motive for transmitting it to the registrar. Judge Holt left between $200,000 and $300,000 dollars. Quite a will was found, but it bore on its back a written revocation. The property went into the hands of two trust companies as administrators for distribution among the legal heirs. These were W. D. Holt, O. W. Holt and W. G. Sterrett, the well known Texas newspaper correspondent. Josephine Throckmorton is a daughter of Major Throckmorton, of the United States army. She is married and lives in New York. Miss Hines is also living. The executor of the will thus strangely found is Mr. Develine, a clerk in the war department, who was the confidential secretary of Judge Holt when the will was written.

MOB VIOLENCE.

Four Murderers Handged by Citizens of Yreka.

The Jail Doors Battered Down, the Men Taken Out and Strung Up in a Tree.

YREKA, Cala., Aug. 26.—Four murderers confined in the county jail here, Johnson, Semlock Null and Moreno, were taken from jail by a mob at 2 o'clock this morning and hanged in the jail yard.

The mob was composed of 350 men who broke into the jail, battered down the cell doors where the four murderers were confined, and dragged the men into the yard and hung them up from a rail which had been placed between two trees.

The lynching is the climax of a reign of lawlessness which has prevailed in that part of the country for several months past.

EASY FOR REQUITAL.

Dave Gideon's Cell First Home in the Futurity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The eighth futurity, the second richest in the nine years of the event, being worth a total of $65,250, was captured Saturday on the Sheepshead bay track by Dave Gideon's Requital in close to record time, lacking only two-fifths of a second. The California colt, Crescendo, was second by a length, while a long distance behind came the long shot, Silver II, in third place, beating the beautifully played Handspring for the show money by a neck. Handspring and Hastings, who finished fifth, were stopped by their weight, while the speedy filly Axiom had enough of it at the half-mile pole.

Griffin won his fourth consecutive race of the day, and was hoisted into the jockey's chair, while the crowd heartily cheered. By this ride he made $63,760 for David Gideon, who, by the aid of John Hyland, one of the best trainers in America, landed the third futurity and the second in succession, the Butterflies being the winner a year ago, and his Highness in 1891. For running second Crescendo got $6,333 and Silver II received $2,667 as third money. The Brooklaide stud gets $4,000 for breeding the winner, $2,500 goes to the breeder of Crescendo, and $1,000 to the breeder of Silver II.

Wesley Man Dead.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 26.—Word has been received by cable of the death of the wealthy merchant, Henry Pundt, at Hamburg, Germany, where he was temporarily sojourning on his way to Carlsbad in search of health. Mr. Pundt was a pioneer of Omaha, having established the first exclusive grocery business in Nebraska in 1856.

If the Cuban revolution is not suppressed before congress meets, it will certainly be to the interest of humanity and civilization for the United States government to recognize the Cuban republic.

It is to be hoped we shall soon have news that the Japanese have entirely put down the rebellious Formosan savages.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Every Train Lands Hundreds of Them in Boston.

The First on the Scene Was Holy Grail Commandery, Followed Rapidly by Others From all States.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 26.—Knights Templar and their ladies from every section of the United States and visitors from every nook and corner of New England have been pouring into the city today by the thousands. One hundred commanderies, including over 3,500 Sir Knights, arrived at the different railroad stations, and before midnight tonight fifty more delegations will arrive.

The first commandery to put in its appearance this morning was Holyrood of Chic. There were 100 Sir Knights and eighty ladies in the party which was due to arrive at 7 a. m. The train was late, but came in soon after seven. Among the delegations which came in today was five commanderies from Illinois, including the Chicago commandery, the finest commandery of Colorado, five from South Dakota, two from Indian territory and Oakland commandery of California.

Although yesterday was the busiest Sunday Boston has seen since the days of the civil war the city was astir early today to greet the host of strangers. Before the sun was fairly up, strains of music were heard in the streets, as resident commanderies moved towards the depots to meet and escort the scores of early arrivals. By 7 o'clock so many bands were out that the air was full of music. One could not go more than a block or two down town without meeting at least one body of knights, and the inspiring strains soon reigned supreme.

A great feature of the gathering this year is the great number of visitors who are attracted simply as spectators. All trains from New England points are late from one to two hours, and a glance at the hotel registers show that there is hardly a town, village or hamlet in all the six New England states that is not represented. The railroad men have been taken completely by surprise, but they are making herculean plans to meet the emergency and say they expect to bring in over 250,000 people before the parade starts tomorrow, besides those from the suburban towns that make up Greater Boston. The only meetings today are those directed by committee work, relating to the hearing of visiting commanderies. The excursion steamer, Cygnus, which has been chartered for the entire week, made two trips down the harbor today, carrying 1,200 passengers each time. She will start daily at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., staying out about three hours each trip.

MARRIED AT A DEATHBED.

Peculiar Double Wedding at a Father's Last Request.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A double wedding under peculiar circumstances took place in Brooklyn about a week ago, the facts of which have just been made public. The principals were Frank A. Galloway, of Lowville, N. Y., and Miss Bessie Barnes, and Charles R. Little, jr., of Jersey City, and Miss Rachel Barnes. The brides were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gaybert Barnes, of 670 Tenth street, Brooklyn, and the marriages were performed at the bedside of their father, who had been supposed to be dying and had requested that the marriages should take place before he breathed his last.

Mr. Little, whose father is a clergyman, went to the residence of Rev. Mr. Langlois, who was supplying the pulpit at All Saints' Protestant Episcopal church, and told of the dying man's wishes. The minister agreed to perform the ceremony, and at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, a week ago, he called at Mr. Barnes' home and in a few minutes the bridal party entered the front room, where Mr. Barnes was lying, and the ceremony began. Realizing the condition of Mr. Barnes, the clergyman read the service as quickly as possible. The brides were dressed in simple white gowns and were given away by their father, who had, however, to be supported while giving his blessing. The newly wedded couples have remained in the house ever since, ministering to the sick man, whose condition again became alarming today after having lived through the week. Dr. William F. Gardner is in constant attendance and has informed the family that the question of Mr. Barnes' death is one only of hours.

Gaybert Barnes is very well known in publishing circles. He took a prominent part in the Henry George campaigns, when Dr. McGlynn was associated with the single tax advocates. Mr. Galloway, one of the participants in the double wedding, is a successful merchant in Lowville, N. Y., while Mr. Little is engaged in the advertising business, with offices in this city. The brides have always been prominent in social circles. They met their husbands, who were students in the Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., five years ago.

MILLIONAIRE DEAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Harrison V. Bridge, a young millionaire of Rosloyan university at Middletown, Conn., five years ago.

MILLIONAIRE DEAD.

After an Illness of a Few Weeks Hartman Bridge Passes Away.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Harrison V. Bridge, a young millionaire of Rosloyan, died at the Palace hotel last night after an illness of three weeks. He had been enjoying good health for several months past, but the immediate cause of his death was a cold which he contracted at San Rafael recently. The deceased was thirty-two years of age and was a son of the late Hudson E. Bridge, of St. Louis, who died a number of years ago, after accumulating a fortune of several millions in the manufacture of stoves. He leaves a brother and sister and a step-sister in the east, besides a wife and child. His brother, Hudson E. Bridge, jr., as well as his sister, Mrs. N. U. Chapman, and his step-sister, Mrs. Gilbert Chapman, are in New York. His wife is in Boston.

ROBY ARENA BURNED.

The Columbian Athletic Club's Home for Fights Destroyed.

The Fire Breaks Out in the Notorious Building at Hammond and Wipes It Out of Existence.

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 26.—At 3 o'clock last evening the prize fighting arena at Roby was burned to the ground, and with it was consumed the hotel and saloon adjoining, owned by Prof. James Robertson, who is well known in sporting circles.

The fire originated in the top story of the hotel and was first discovered when it burst through the roof. The building was a frame one and burned rapidly. In ten minutes after the fire was discovered it had spread to the arena, which was also a frame building, and in half an hour both buildings were consumed.

The arena was built in the spring of 1893 by the Columbia Athletic club, at a cost of about $15,000, and its history is well known throughout the country. The club was organized under the celebrated Mitchell law, passed by the legislature in 1893, one section of which gave permission to hold exhibitions of science and skill. Dominick O'Malley was president, and Charles Meyer secretary. The first fight pulled off was between Martin Costello and Billy Woods, which resulted in a draw. The principals and their assistants, together with the referee, George Sile, were arrested and taken to Crown Point. Several other events were pulled off in the building, when finally Governor Matthews took the matter in hand and sent a detachment of the state militia to the scene and placed Benjamin F. Hayes, of Crown Point, in possession as receiver for the Columbian Athletic club. This action put a stop to the prize fighting there and ever since the building has been standing idle.

When the case came up for hearing at Crown Point, Costello, who had been indicted under the riotous conspiracy act, was the first to be tried. A change of venue was prayed for by the defendant and Judge Gillett called Judge E. M. Langdon, of Lafayette, to try the case. The trial lasted several days and resulted in the jury returning a verdict of guilty and sentencing the defendant to two years in state prison, but before the sentence was pronounced by Judge Langdon Costello jumped his bail and went to Canada, where he still remains. All the other cases were compromised by the payment of fines aggregating $4,000.

TIME UNITES LOVERS.

Romance in Marriage Just Consummated at Bellefontaine, Ohio.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio, Aug. 26.—A young man went into business at Bellefontaine, Ohio, a few years ago, leaving behind, in the town he hailed from, a young lady whom he was engaged to marry. Almost daily he received loving epistles from her. One day, however, a letter came stating that she had decided to marry another. In less than a month she was married. A little while after the Bellefontaine man received correspondence with an old flame in southern Ohio, and after writing to her for some time, they were left Bellefontaine, returning in a few days with her as his bride. A year elapsed and the young lady to whom he was first engaged was a widow. Not long afterward the wife of the Bellefontaine man died. Letters of condolence were exchanged between widow and widower. The result was that the latter two young people were married and are now living as happily as one could imagine.

BORDER POOLROOM RAIDED.

Ryan's Place on the Illinois-Indiana Line Closed.

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 26.—Sheriff Hayes, assisted by local officers, raided "Paddy" Ryan's "Little Monte Carlo" poolroom on Saturday night. The place is situated on the Illinois-Indiana state line, eight feet of it being on the Indiana side. Seven pool sellers were arrested. They gave each bail aggregating $2,000 for their appearance at a hearing tomorrow morning in the Lake circuit court before Judge Gillett. Sheriff Hayes has been after these players for several weeks, but could not get them on this side until Saturday, when they were driven over by the Illinois authorities.

Assaulted by Desperadoes.

LAWSON, Iowa, Aug. 26.—Felix Brunner, of Galena, Ill., mate of the steamer Menominee, was nearly carried to pieces by two desperadoes named Quinn and Roberts, of Victor, Wis. While the boat was making a landing near there last night he was out in a dozen places from an inch to three inches in length. The assailants have been lodged in jail at Viroqua.

Anarchist Arrested.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—A special dispatch received here from Paris says that an anarchist has been arrested at Vic-for Gers, department of Gantal, upon the information of the postmasters of that place, who declares that the man taken into custody posted a letter similar to the one received at the Rothschild's banking house on Saturday.

HUNG TO A TREE

In the Court House Yard--Work of a Mob in Kentucky.

Went to the Jail During the Night and Took Out a Negro Murderer.

SCHOFIELD, Ky., Aug. 26.—Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning a mob composed of about a dozen men took Harrison Lewis, the negro who murdered Joe Brooks, also colored, last Friday night, from the jail here and hanged him to a tree in the court house yard.

When the mob reached the jail they called for Jailer Smith, but his wife informed them that he was not at home and that she had the keys to the jail with him. This did not daunt the mob, however. Going to a blacksmith shop near by they procured some sledge hammers and after three hours' work succeeded in battering down the jail door. Lewis was found crouching in his cell and begged piteously for his life, but the leader ordered men to make quick work of him. He was quickly seized and after placing a rope around his neck was dragged to the nearest tree and strung up without further ceremony. Then to did its work in a quiet, orderly way, and seemed to be thoroughly organized. It is the opinion of many that it was composed of colored men. After completing their work the mob quietly dispersed. The murder was a dastardly one and the negroes have been greatly worked up since its occurrence. Friday night Lewis went to Brooks' house and calling him to the door shot him down on his own threshold without any warning. Harrison Lewis, the man that was lynched, was a brother of Matthew Lewis, who narrowly escaped lynching here about two weeks ago for an assault upon Mrs. Murray Shields, and who was taken to Louisville for safe keeping.

BAD STORY.

Mother Murders Her Boy and Attempts Suicide.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26.—A sad story of a mother's murder of her boy and a subsequent attempt at suicide is reported in a special telegram to the Oregonian from Independence. The wife of James Tettleton, a well to do farmer living near the Lackamute river, arose before daylight while the family were asleep, and wrapping her six year old boy in a quilt, took him to the river and held his head under water until life was gone. Throwing the body into the river, she returned home, awakened her husband and asked him to go to the doctor. The husband put her off and rolled over to go to sleep. The wife again left the house but this time she was followed. She went to the river and threw herself in but was quickly rescued, though she fought her rescuers with desperation. When the boy was missed she told how she had taken him to a "nice bathing pool and, although he clung to my neck and begged me not to, I put him in. I held his head under water." Mrs. Tettleton is thought to be insane.

THIEF REPENTS.

He Returns a Pocketbook He Stole in Chicago.

OSBORNE, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Frank Short, a farmer, found a package tied to his front door Saturday. On opening the parcel he discovered a pocketbook which had been stolen from him ten years ago. The pocketbook contained $15 and this note:

"Mr. Short—Ten years ago, in the city of Chicago, I stole your pocketbook, securing the pocketbook and $15 in money. I am a poor tramp now, and must die soon, but I felt I could not enter eternity without first restoring this to you, as I found your name and address in the book. Please forgive me, as I know God has.

"A Poor Old Wanderer."

Mr. Short well remembers the day he was robbed. He says if he could find the tramp he would gladly make him comfortable from his abundance.

CHEESE GROWS ON VINES.

Unique Discovery Made by a South Dakota Creamery Man.

SIOUX CITY, S. D., Aug. 26.—J. R. Mills conducts a creamery at Mellette. Early in the spring he discovered a plant growing in a little hole at one side of the creamery. He did not at first know what it was, and every morning he would empty a pail of separated milk on the plant. It turned out to be a summer squash vine and last week the squash got ripe. One was cut open and was found full of a substance which resembled and tasted like "Dutch cheese." Mr. Mills will keep the seed and plant them next year to see what they will produce.

DISAPPOINTMENT FOR BADDIES

They Hold a Man Up and Get Twenty-two Cents for Their Trouble.

LINDSEY, Ind., Aug. 26.—William Lee, a farmer, was held up near his home in true western style by two robbers. After binding him in his buggy they relieved him of his money. They got twenty-two cents. Mr. Lee had sealed a check for $600 in the afternoon, but deposited the money in another bank.

Train Ditched.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 26.—The Great Northern overland passenger train which left this city at 7:10 o'clock last night ran into a landslide seventeen miles from Richmond flash. The engine and tender were ditched and the four trucks of the baggage car left the track. Engineer McKinty was killed. The train had many passengers and McKinty, in the face of danger, stood at his post and succeeded in saving the lives of those he piloted only to be horribly mangled himself.

TO BE ENFORCED.

Warrants Issued Against Violators of the Law.

A Number of Prominent Saloonkeepers of Fort Wayne to be Arrested This Evening.

Mayor Oakley has entered upon the fulfillment of his declaration to proceed against the violators of the Nicholson liquor law. It has not been the intention of the officers to inflict hardships upon the saloonkeepers, and from the time the law went into effect until the present, leniency was shown until all could fully acquaint themselves with the provisions of the statute. The keepers of saloons were several times notified what would be expected and ten or twelve days ago the ultimatum was given. The time has now elapsed and hereafter the police will proceed upon the theory that every one is conversant with the provisions of the law, and affidavits will be filed against all the violators thereof.

The warning has been unheeded by a number of persons, and this morning the mayor ordered the prosecuting attorney to prepare warrants against the proprietors of a number of well known saloons, and accordingly papers will be served against Louis A. Centlivre, proprietor of the Home, for permitting men in the place after hours. Moses Rosenthal, on the same charge, Harry Gilbert for keeping a partition in his saloon; Gus Jackson for not having the screens drawn on Sunday.

These warrants will be served this evening, and the cases will be set for trial at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The administration states that the law will be enforced against all offenders, and that orders have been issued to all officers to perform their duty in this matter, without fear or favor.

HEIRS IN COURT

Seeking to Set Aside the Will of John Roller, Deceased.

Suit Brought Against the Nickel Plate for $10,000 on Account of the Death of James Yost.

Coleslek & France, as attorneys for Caroline Klug and other heirs of John Roller, deceased, have commenced an action in the circuit court against William Roller, Jacob Roller and Jacob Buchtick, asking that the will made by the said John Roller, proviors to his death, may be set aside and declared null and void upon the ground that at the time it was made the deceased was of unsound mind. The petition alleges that the defendants were unjustly given nearly the whole estate of the value of $9,000 of the deceased, and that they, the plaintiffs, were not given what should have been rightly willed to them.

Sherman B. Malcolm, administrator of the estate of James Yost, deceased, has begun suit through his attorneys, Vesey and Heaton, in the circuit court to recover the sum of $10,000 from the Nickel Plate Railroad company for having carelessly caused the death of said Yost, who was a brakeman, at Wanash, on the 27th day of November, 1893.

NOT BELIEVED.

Report of the Killing of Fifteen Bannock Indians.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The report of the killing of fifteen Bannock Indians by cattlemen in the neighborhood of Diamond Valley, Ore., is not believed at the Indian bureau. Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning says he believes there is no foundation for the report. He says there is no reservation within 300 miles of the region where the affair is stated to have taken place, and that, as far as the Indian office is informed, no Indians were in the vicinity.

WHIPPED AGAIN.

The Insurgents Defeated by the Spanish Troops.

HAVANA, Aug. 26.—According to official advices an engagement between the Spanish troops and the insurgents, lasting an hour and a half, has been fought at Nipnoco, near Manzanillo, province of Santiago de Cuba. The insurgents are said to have lost fifty killed and wounded and the leader, Reiter, is said to be seriously wounded. No details of the affair, it is added, have reached here.

Killed Himself.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 26.—W. W. Kittel, an attache of the war department, D. C., shot and killed himself in his room at the Hotel Willey, in this city, about 9 o'clock this morning.

Hon. John Winn, of Defiance, Ohio, one of the gentlemen interested in the proposed electric railway between Fort Wayne and Hicksville, Ohio, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Reaver have returned from Bluffton, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith over Sunday.

For a practical course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Typewriting attend the Fort Wayne Business College. Classes in all the common branches. Fall term begins Sept. 2. Before arranging to attend elsewhere, call at the college for full outline of course of studies. Office open day and evening. MacDougal block, cor. Berry and Calhoun streets.

IN CUSTODY AGAIN.

Charles Hobbs Arrested at Edgerton for Attempted Rape.

Just Released From Prison He Assaults a Little Girl and Narrowly Escapes Being Lynched.

Charles Hobbs, of Edgerton, in this county, a young man who has just completed serving a term of one year in the penitentiary at Michigan City, for criminally assaulting Mrs. McConnell, was arrested last Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Melching, at Edgerton, for a similar offense committed on Lottie Shirard, the seven-year-old step daughter of George Jowell, an employe in the stave factory of Rose & Ausgraugh, of Edgerton, and brought to this city and lodged in jail to-an-swer to the following counts of rape.

Friday afternoon Sheriff Clausmeier returned from Michigan City with Hobbs and gave him his liberty. The young man at once started for Edgerton, where he has a number of relatives residing. Saturday afternoon while going from the home of one relative to his grandmother's house on the road, a short distance from Edgerton, he overtook little Lottie Shirard, the sobbing her, he dragged her from the road into a field, but was prevented from accomplishing his fiendish purpose by the resistance and screams of the child which brought Louis Banner, a passing farmer, to her rescue, and the brutish Hobbs escaped for the time being.

As soon as the news of the assault became known a number of citizens started in pursuit of Hobbs and he was found hiding in a field about a mile distant from the scene of his attempted crime. The sentiment was in favor of lynching the prisoner, but cooler counsel finally prevailed and the captors handed him over to the officer, who had been telephoned for, and he was brought to this city and safely landed in jail.

Hobbs is a young man only about twenty-two years old. He was formerly an inmate of the reform school, but later was placed in the state home for feeble minded youth, near this city. He was released from that institution something over a year ago, and signed his release from custody of the state by assaulting two little girls at Ox Bow Bend, on the Maumee river, near which place his father at that time resided. A few days later he assaulted another little girl at Edgerton. The day following this last mentioned crime, he associated with fiendish brutality Mrs. McConnell at Edgerton. This victim was but a two days' bride, and Hobbs seized her on the railroad track as she was going into Edgerton, dragged her into the woods and bound her with a rope. He was arrested for his crime by a posse of citizens and only the prompt and cool action of Sheriff Alexander, aided by influential citizens of the village, saved his neck from the rope.

The preliminary examination of Hobbs is taking place this afternoon before Justice France.

NEW ELECTRIC ROAD.

Fort Wayne and Hicksville Road Sure to be Built.

Articles of Incorporation Filed This Afternoon in the Office of the Secretary of State.

The proposed electric railway between Fort Wayne and Hicksville, Ohio, is sure to be built, and that, too, at a very early date. The men back of the enterprise are not only enterprising and energetic, but can command a sufficient amount of capital to push the work to a speedy completion. Prominent men of Hicksville and Defiance, interested in the proposed road, are in the city today, and late this afternoon a meeting was held at the office of Randall & Deughman for the purpose of preparing the articles of incorporation. These were completed and filed in the office of the secretary of state. The capital stock is $100,000, and it is thought that sum will be sufficient to complete the line.

The road will be forty-three miles in length and will run from this place through Mayavillet to Hicksville, thence eventually to Williams Centre and Bryan, Ohio. The building of the line will necessitate the employment of a large number of men, and the amount expended for labor and material during the coming fall and winter will be no inconsiderable sum.

The new road will prove of great benefit to Fort Wayne, opening up territory that is now practically inaccessible, and that it is to be constructed will prove gratifying to every citizen of the city and county.

THE DIRECTORS.

The board of directors of the new road is composed of the following gentlemen: John W. Winn, John S. Hart, James B. Colegrun, Aaron M. Reichlerfer, Clarence P. Swift, Charles McCulloch, Perry A. Randall.

The officers will be elected on the return of the papers from Indianapolis.

DISCUSSING COMBINATION.

Window Glass Manufacturers Hold a Secret Session.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 26.—A number of leading window glass manufacturers from Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio met in conference at the Hollenden hotel late this afternoon. The session was held behind closed doors and the delegates refused to state the object of the conference, but it is generally believed that the wage scale and combination of all the manufacturers are the questions which will be considered. It is probably that definite action will be taken on both propositions before an adjournment is taken.

DIED AWAY FROM HOME

Returning From a Trip to Europe Death Comes Suddenly

To Mrs. Josie Whittier, of This City, at New York, Shortly After She Landed From the Steamer.

A telegram which was sent to this city yesterday morning from New York announced the sudden death at that city on Saturday night, at 12:30 o'clock, of Mrs. Whittier, the wife of Joab Whittier, a well known machinist at the round house of the Wabash Railroad company in this city, whose home is at 336 West Main street.

The particulars of her death reveal a sad story, one that is a severe blow to the bereaved parents and the many friends of the deceased lady in this city, and although they are but meagre at this writing, THE SENTINEL will give them as they were gathered from one who is an intimate friend of the family.

Some ten weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Whittier left Fort Wayne for a visit to the parents of both of them at Rosedale, England, at which place Mr. and Mrs. Whittier formerly resided and which was the home of their early childhood and youth. They reached their destination in safety, passed their visit among their relatives pleasantly and started on their homeward journey with Mrs. Whittier apparently in the best of health.

Shortly after leaving the steamer at New York and after they arrived at 2:10 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at their hotel on Ellis Island, Mrs. Whittier was stricken with paralysis and suffered another stroke at 5:30, from the effects of which she died at 12:50 o'clock that night.

The sorrowing husband, with the remains of his dead wife will reach this city some time tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Whittier was fifty-two years of age, and besides her husband leaves a family of six children, five daughters, and one son. The children did not accompany their parents on their European trip. She was born in England but has resided in this city for the last thirty-five years.

CALLED SUDDENLY.

Death of Julius P. Manuel, of West Jefferson Street.

Stricken on His Return From a Pleasure Ride--Death of Mrs. Charlotte Brooks.

Julius P. Manuel, the well-known clerk in the clothing store of Sam, Pete & Max, died very suddenly at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, at his home, 222 West Jefferson street. Mr. Manuel had not been especially indisposed—indeed, he was out during Sunday afternoon and evening, returning to his residence he was taken with convulsions and died in a very short time after the attack. Mr. Manuel was about fifty-two years of age and was born in France, but had been for many years a resident of Fort Wayne and was well liked by all. He leaves a wife and three children—Frank, a mailcarrier; Miss Josephine, still in the county re-ceipt, and Mrs. Fred Rougers, of Niles, Mich. Francis P. Manuel, of the People's store, is a brother. Miss Manuel was visiting her sister in Niles at the time of the death and both were apprised of the sad event by telegram. The funeral will be held from the Cathedral at 9 o'clock, Wednesday morning, and the interment will be at Academia.

BROOKS.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning at the residence of her son, Henry C. Brooks, 209 West DeWald street, occurred the death of Mrs. Charlotte Brooks, the aged mother of the well-known contractors, William and Henry Brooks. Mrs. Brooks was born January 2, 1811, in Sussex county, England. She removed to America and for many years has been a resident of Fort Wayne. The deceased has been afflicted with Bright's disease for several years, but it was not until the past summer that her sickness became alarming. The funeral will be held from the residence, 209 West DeWald street, probably Wednesday afternoon.

VACHON.

Louis, the four months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Vachon, who reside in the northwest part of the city, died early this morning of cholera infantum. The remains will be interred tomorrow morning at Sheldon.

LEMAS.

William, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lehman, of Canal street, died Sunday at Auburn, Ind., of membranous croup. The remains will be brought to this city tomorrow and interred in Concordia cemetery.

POWELL.

Chester, the one-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac B. Powell, of Barthold street, died of brain fever early Sunday morning. The funeral was held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The rain this morning was too much for a few of the old ducks, and two negroes were taken in and looked up by the police on a charge of vagrancy. A sailor fellow was found on Clinton street who had his great a load of liquid refreshment aboard, and he was given a secluded corner in a station-house cell.

THE BLUES.

Why do Women have the Blues more than Men?

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Are not women naturally as light-hearted, happy, and hopeful as men? Yes; but women's organism is different from man's.

Women in perfect or equal health are rarely victims of this symptoma.

Women's nearly monopolize the blues. Women's peculiar ailments promote them.

Nervousness, sleeplessness, faintness, backache, bearing-down pains, etc., continually make life a burden to her.

Sometimes she is "all-gone" and "all-going" by turns.

When the woman does not understand what the matter is, and her doctor can not or will not tell her, she grows morose and melancholy; that's the blues.

Mrs. Newton Cobb, of Manchester, O., says: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all this trouble. I cannot praise it enough. I am pleased to tell every one that it cured me; and it is will cure me, may not others try it, as sure my case was to cure enough." It will. Get it of your druggist as once.

The Evening Sentinel.

BY E. A. K MACKETT.

MONDAY, AUG. 26, 1895.

The idle money in New York banks is now being freely invested in real estate. This is not a bad sign.

Cholera has already destroyed twenty times over more lives in Japan than were lost in the war with China.

A Norwood representative took a trip over Swinney park this morning, and, while the grounds are being placed in a suitable condition, it seems too bad that a larger force of workmen cannot be employed. Under the present order of things a good many moons will come and go before the park will be in shape for the pleasure and enjoyment of our people.

The engagement of Miss Emma Rockefeller, daughter of the Standard Oil magnate, to Dr. David Hunter McAlpin, jr., son of the millionaire lobacco manufacturer, is announced. As in the case of the Gordon-Stone marriage, two very wealthy families will thus be allied by a matrimonial arrangement. In America this is becoming a popular method of making the rich richer. People who have already more wealth than they know what to do with take pains to increase their possessions by marrying more. If this is not building up a money aristocracy, what is it?

What flies are a prerequisite for good roads cheaply and easily maintained. While time makes bad roads good and keep good roads good. All are benefited and all should cheerfully do their duty. Make wide, the tires of your vehicles. Even the lightest vehicles should have the tires doubled or trebled in width. Delivery wagons should have their tires widened. Wagons of all kinds should have very wide tires. This is a matter which could be easily regulated by law.

The sentiment of the people of this county has been for years in favor of the abolishment of the toll gate and the making free of the gravel roads of the county. The right to travel every rood of the county without the payment of a fee is one that belongs to every citizen and sooner or later it will be accorded him. The Sentinel has at often urged the purchase of the toll roads, and given its reasons why this should be done, that it is unnecessary in this connection to repeat this place or the arguments in its favor. The present commissioners of Allen county would gladly purchase the toll roads if they could do so at a reasonable price, but whenever an attempt is made by them to agree with the owners upon a reasonable price which is double what the commissioners think it ought to be. This was the case with the attempt made this summer to purchase them, and it will continue to be the case probably for some years to come unless some pressure is brought to bear upon the owners to force a sale. The Sentinel would not urge sterner measures just now than compromise, for it believes the toll road owners, who are citizens of our county and interested in its welfare, will eventually see that it is to their interest to accept the price for their roads which was fixed by the majority of the appraisers recently appointed for that purpose. If the commissioners are unable to purchase the toll roads at a reasonable figure they ought to see to it that the owners at all times keep them in proper repair, something they do not do now, and which if they were required to do of their investments would not be so profitable to them as they say they are.

Saloons on Sunday.

The police board of New York has received an unlooked-for support in its efforts to enforce the law closing saloons on Sunday. This is nothing less than the organization representing the more reputable saloonkeepers. Last Monday a number of saloonkeepers went into court and pleaded guilty, promising to observe the law in the future. A few days later a saloonkeeper was sent to the penitentiary by a jury that had two saloonkeepers as jurors voting for his conviction. Last Friday representatives of the Wine, Beer and Liquor Dealers' association announced that the organization would close all saloons owned by its members on Sundays after September 1, and they expended by this capitulation an appeal for quarter.

One member of the association said: "All we want is that every one else shall be as tightly closed as we are. We have a membership of 5,000, or 50 per cent. of the retail dealers in town, and 75 per cent of the money invested. We consent cheerfully to close while ours are open, but if the authorities will help us out by enforcing the law absolutely then up are satisfied."

The president of the excise committee went into court and asked leniency for saloonkeepers now on trial for past offenses, promising that there should be a general closing after Sept. 1, and that the association would help to enforce it. Judge Cowing did not obey the law after that date. The judges promised to take the matter under consideration and wait to see what the general meeting of the association will do tomorrow. If it endorses the action of its general committee and orders its members to close their saloons on Sunday hereafter, Judge Cowing is confident it makes New York a dry town on Sunday.

The Wine, Beer and Liquor Dealers' association represents what is known as the better class among saloonkeepers in New York. Many claim that they do not want to disobey any law, nor do they care to keep open on Sunday. They have been forced to keep open on Sunday by the disreputable saloons that never closed and attracted their trade. They do not propose to fight the law to help the dives. They ask the police board to enforce the law against the lower order of saloons, and the association will see that it is observed by its own members, who are a majority of all the saloonkeepers in New York.

This action of Wine, Beer and Liquor Dealers' association illustrates what has been said many times, that there is no class of men who want to work seven days in the week. The barbers of Chicago were the prime movers in securing the law against having barber shops open on Sunday in this state, and we believe that the more reputable saloonkeepers would just as willingly have Sunday a day of rest. They think they are forced to keep open seven days in the week because of the competition of other saloon men, whose places are resorts for the lowest class of saloon patrons and who have their best business on Sunday. But it is not a paying business for the better saloonkeepers. They get less money by trying to compete with the many disreputable places on one day in the week.

The Sunday closing fight in New York has developed the fact that the saloons there are in a bad way financially. They have suffered from the long period of business depression and from close competition. Their business is overcrowded. There are 10,000 saloons in that city and not business enough for all of them. They have had to mortgage their property to the brewers and distillers and plead that they have violated the excise law in the hope of avoiding downright insolvency.

The action of the Liquor Dealers' association will bring the competition back to a more legitimate basis. It will place all saloons on a six days a week basis, as other business, and then the better class will survive, while the others will fall. That is the rule with all business where the laws are enforced, and the Liquor Dealers' association of New York is simply following a good business principle in resolving to help enforce the law.

It is an ingenious idea, that which Capt. Judson M. Cross, a lawyer of Minneapolis, has evolved from his brain. It is that Hawaii send delegates to the American congress in December, asking admission for them on the same basis as that on which delegates from the other territories have obtained seats. Captain Cross believes that both historical precedent and common sense will favor the admission of such delegates. Hawaii has demonstrated her power to maintain a republican form of government in and of herself, and that is the main condition insisted upon in recognition of a United States territory.

American civilization is very far behind that, of Europe in some respects. At no German watering resort is a stranger allowed to be completely into the ocean. A government abstract takes analysis of the water every morning and hands out what is in it. The sewage must be conveyed inland and disposed of. It is still used as a fertilizer in part, people there farmer, as far as is known, a seaside resort in America where the sewage is not ignored into the sea near the place. This is a shocking of water to bathers.

Missionaries are not deterred by the torture of Ku-Chung from sailing for China. Mrs. Jonathan Smith of Towanda has not hesitated a moment to go forth to join her husband, who is in China now.

Curious Canadian History.

At the time of the American Revolution the population of Canada was still largely French. The people, "habitans," as they were called, desired to unite with the 13 colonies, fight with them and become one country with them. Had they been permitted to do so Canada would now have been divided into a number of prosperous states of this Union.

It was chiefly owing to the Roman Catholic clergy, so it is claimed, that the Canadian French kept out of the Union. The clergy had a horror of republicanism and revolutions. They sincerely believed that monarchy was a divinely ordained form of government and that no other could stand. They were loyal to the British government and kept the habitans from coming over to us. In return for this the British crown gave the Roman Catholic clergy great privileges in Canada. There is at present, it is said, $20,000,000 worth of Catholic church property in Canada. It is not taxed.

Now times have changed very much. A full half of the French population has emigrated to the United States. At the same time British and Protestant people have been pouring into the Dominion. The country whose inhabitans were nearly all of French descent a century ago now has only 30 per cent. of population of that race. The rest is British and nearly all Protestant. These rebel with all their souls against the large grants and privileges the English government gave to the Roman Catholic clergy long ago for its services in keeping Canada for the crown. They rebel against the division of the school fund, and they will not have French as the official language. They wish the French habitans had gone over to the American Union at the time of our Revolution, and the French habitans wish so too.

Exploring South Polar Regions.

More than half a century ago Sir James Ross, sailing unheroic seas, found and named Victoria land. Commander Wilkes, United States navy, discovered it before, but did not name it. The south polar region was believed to be much colder than the north polar one. That has been the impression ever since. Comparatively few attempts have been made to approach the south pole.

But a speaker at the late international geographical congress in London reported a warmer climate in the south polar region. He is Captain Borchgrevink, a Norwegian. On his recent expedition to the antarctic seas he found the magnetic south polar continent to be twice as large as Europe. He named a promontory on this continent Cape Oscar, after his king. He sighted Cape Oscar in 74 degrees south latitude. Eighty-three degrees is the highest latitude yet reached at the north pole.

After discovering Cape Oscar, Borchgrevink sailed northward a short distance to Cape Adair, a point on the new continent, and made some exploration there. The water was found to be open to the temperature sometimes rose as high as 40 degrees, and the lowest was 25 degrees. The explorer found traces of vegetation, myriads of waterfowl and seals, indicating that valuable minerals might be found. Certainly there is no difficulty in exploring a region where the thermometer rises as high at times as 40 degrees. From point to this conclusion that for some reason the south polar region is warmer than it was when Ross made his explorations.

BEARS A CHARMED LIFE.

30th Building is Continually Getting Hurt but Never Dies.

Willard Belding of Belchertown, 76 years old, and a most estimable person, has experienced more casualties than usually fall to the lot of one mortal who lives to tell the story.

At the age of 7 he had part of the fingers of one hand cut off. In later years he had the bones of one ankle crushed by falling trees and has been pinned to him was the result of being caught by the mouth by the sweep of an old fashioned cider mill. His mouth was calamitously torn open in the scrape and had to be partially sewed up. Next, a loose fall on him and broke the bone of one leg above the knee; next, as the result of a fall, he had his right arm terribly broken in; next, a scaffhack caved in and buried him under it, breaking his limb once again, and after it healed he was run over by somebody considerably shorter than the other. Last winter he fell and shattered his kneepan. When he was over 80 natives, as it is alone for a block of wood, he was struck by a falling the tooth in his upper jaw with a new set of double teeth.—Springfield Republican.

Electricity For Driving Ships.

"A use to which electricity might be put with advantage, I think, is in the propulsion of great steamships. This electric fan," said Mr. Bragg of the Westinghouse company, pointing to a little brass machine that was a current of air the length of his office, "is built on the plan of a propeller. It makes 2,000 revolutions a minute; compare that with the greatest number of revolutions that the screws on our transatlantic greyhounds can make. The same power is on them that is on the steam propellers. If these engines on ship-board could run dynamos and the motors be geared to the screws, then the rotary motion could be secured and the screws would go as fast as you please."—Washington Star.

Dear With a History.

The president of San Domingo recently purchased a steam yacht, and named it El Presidente. But the true little Dominican has a decidedly democratic history. It was formerly known as the Dorchound, and was present at the naval duel between the Kearsarge and Alabama. It rescued Captain Semmes, together with most of her crew, when the Alabama sank.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Shore One For Bloomers.

Anything like a train in connection with the bicycle will produce evils, which is why the young women are resorting to bloomers.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

BISCONSETT-IN-THE-SEA.

Mr. Blankitrick Pays His Regular Annual Tribute to the Sandy Shore.

[Special Correspondence.]

Biscosset, Mass., Aug. 12.—Biscosset is still floating in the sea safely anchored just opposite Spain, but far enough away to keep from being mixed up in the fortnightly West Indian emeute which keeps the manufacturers of arms from going into bankruptcy. After the usual summer swallow in New York Hotel it very comfortable here in an inverness, and the leather contrast with copper lining worn during the summer by the Jerseyman to keep the mosquitoes from puncturing the epidermis, but the light airy overcoat which is the brother of the cream summer drink which waft some to Fairyland. The genial proprietor is the father theater, and all is lovely as an infant's dream. Biscosset is still Biscosset, and that is the highest praise one can bestow upon it.

Nothing ever changes down here except the weather and $5 bills, but the former is the more easily changed, even by one who has never had professional experience in the weather lemon. Yesterday a man found a diamond pin that he lost last summer right on a beach in New York. It would have been lost tonight on the fly which abounds from the owner's scarf. If you were to stand tacks on their heads down here, the natives would never notice them or think them up with their feet. A man south of the Ohio weather whole stories are larger than they were this time last year.

The Yankee has also running and swimming with him. I remember yesterday that was caught by a man who had wired a silver dollar on his hook. This shows that even Yankees are learning to be genial if not as original as we live. It is probably due to the fact that when close to shore they hear mercenary people discussing everything from the dollar point of view. One of the great charms of this place is the spirit of Americanism that pervades it from Sunpoty Lighthouse to Underhill's prism stage on the bluff. When you go to be shaved, you don't hand on an oak and canvas on a duke even in the barber. It is a great blessing, and one for which no small debt of gratitude is due. There are neither natural nor artificial nobleman here, and it is fortunate that the best markets for romance and fiction are the groceries and Bar Harbor. The only royal personage recognized here are the kings and queens that abound in packs like foxhounds.

A beautiful macadamized road is now being laid from Nantucket to Biscosset. About two miles of it are now finished, and next year, when it is completed, a bicycler will be in his element and never know a puncture. This will put the horses into coma for winter use, and the poor equines who have been driven to the poorhouse through the route will doubtless feel happier compounded as mock turtle soup or cat's-paw. This finely ballasted bicentenn road will be a great blessing to the people that if large wholesome meal frightens a hungry man, and the drivers may now bowling at more than 10 miles an hour without breaking a trace. About two more crusher broke down, and since the date of that accident no accidents are they to push the good work ahead. Then they have been crushing the stone with little water.

The only mosquito I ever saw here was that have come down with me from New York myself in my valise. After I had gone to bed this Morrisdown blackleggin began to play a dreary solo upon my thin parents until I thought I was back in my own house, around which the mosquitoes are so plentiful that I throw them in to the summer tenors without extra charge. When I heard the free from of the specimens and felt his full feathers trailing softly along my nose, it made me sad and surcharged my soul with a melancholy about three times too large for it. But I didn't attempt to bite me. He seemed to rejoice in the fact that he was with me that knew his ways. And then I know he was from New Jersey, for he perched upon my nose as if he would tenderly embrace me and began to cry in the bitterness of his woe. And as great saline tears dropped lightly from his eyes he put his head out on his hind legs like the leader of an orchestra and began tuboing the names of the stations on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

But the mosquitoes of New Jersey, biting as they do with the sting of a tax collector, are not much greater in number than the flies that are here. Consequently they have multiplied like Italians, just as prosperous, and when the native sees them he says, with that air of long suffering resignation for which he charges the alien from New York 50 cents a dozen he immediately pulls the lobster pot out of the sea and sets in the fish. A flock of them will attack a fine green farm and in a few hours leave nothing intact but the utensils and the mortgage. Every sad quail have it has been put on the blind. The farmers are now extinct here, and the quail were so greatly reduced in numbers last winter by the snow and cold weather that a law has been passed to protect New York only millionaires could enjoy it, but down here millionaires can't enjoy it because, having all the money they want, they can't take the time to leave their shops. Therefore the poor man is a rich man down here—so rich that he doesn't know he's poor until he returns to the hostler to get his horse and, drawing long and fondly of leather robed Siasconsett-in-the-Sea.

HOME OF A MODERN MAGAZINE.

The Cosmopolitan in Pleasant Handsomely at Irvington-on-the-Hudson.

[Special Correspondence.]

Irvington-on-the-Hudson, Aug. 19.—There are many places of historic interest in this vicinity. Localities where heroic deeds were done in Revolutionary days are scattered about with lavish hand and often visited by patriotic pilgrims. Not far from the station, which nestles under the hills on the Hudson's eastern bank, is Sunnyside, the home of Washington Irving, toward which the steps of thousands every year are turned in reverent memory of him who was among the first to show the world that an American could write a worthy book. Both Sunnyside and the Revolutionary localities are well worth the attention of every patriotic American.

But Irvington now has another attraction, quite as interesting in its way as any of those mentioned, though thoroughly modern, and, in fact, rather more than up to date. That is the publishing house from which John Brisben Walker issues The Cosmopolitan Magazine. Mr. Walker is a member of that progressive new school of publishers who believe it possible to make a high class monthly periodical that may be profitably retailed at the astonishingly low price of 10 cents per number. He is not the pioneer in this direction, although he is doing pioneer publishing work in other ways. Mr. Walker's plan is quite unusual in America and has no parallel anywhere unless one is furnished by the English publishing house of the poet Morris. Before Mr. Walker bought The Cosmopolitan its selling price had been 25 cents a number. For several years after he got it that rate was maintained. During that time the enterprise was apparently successful, but about two or three years ago he determined that to secure a really wide circulation, such as he craved, the price must be made so low that no one able to earn a living could rightly consider the magazine too costly for him to buy.

Accordingly the retail price of The Cosmopolitan was reduced to 10 cents. The American News company, through which all the magazines are circulated, declined to handle a magazine retailing at a less price than this, so Mr. Walker would have adopted the 10 cent rate at that time. In order, however, to share the price to a "York shilling" even he found it necessary to radically change the plan of production. Instead of giving out the printing to one house, the engraving to another, the electrotyping to another and the binding to another, he must do all this work himself. For further, if he would save the heavy carriage and certain other expenses to which he was then subjected, he must remove the publication office from New York city.

He had already bought a fine old country seat upon the banks of the Hudson, at Irvington, and after mature consideration he decided to erect here a building under whose roof should be carried on the editorial work and all the operations of typesetting, engraving, printing, binding, etc., necessary to the production of the magazine. Work was begun as soon as practicable, and the building has been pushed with vigor ever since. It has now been occupied for two or three months, and though its exterior walls are not yet finished it is in good shape inside, and the regular work of the establishment is successfully going forward. The building is three stories in height, is about 200 feet long, wide accordingly, is surrounded by classic colonnades and surmounted by three rounded domes. The walls are of brick, but when completed will be covered with a coat of portland cement and white sand, which will cause them to stand out in gleaming contrast to the green of the trees and the dark shrubbery on lawns in the midst of which it is set.

But notwithstanding the perfect taste displayed in the design of this building its main attraction of all is the interior arrangement. In every respect the printing office and the bindery are models of their sort. The prosecution is upon the second floor, and it fills about a corner set apart for the engine, room, is given up to the printing machines. These are ranged along either side of the central east compartment and all receive their reference to the windows that each press receives plenty of light and no pressman is without an abundance of good, fresh air. Whenever a large quantity of paper stock has to be stored it is placed in the center of the room, where there is ample space, in such a way as never to obstruct the light. The bindery on the next floor is arranged in exactly similar fashion, and upon the top floor, where the library, business office and editorial and composing rooms are situated, there is a somewhat similar and thoroughly sensible arrangement.

It is upon this floor that Mr. Walker and his immediate lieutenants do their work. Looking out in three directions, north, west and south, they can see the broad and majestic Hudson and the palisades of the western bank. Even the dowe looking to the east exquisite bandlets of woodland and sward, diversified with handsome villas and cosy cottages, are visible.

T. D. Marshall.

One curious fact brought out by the report of public prosecutions in England is that the number of prosecutions for murder in 1894 was identically the same as in 1893, 62 man and 60 women having been proceeded against in each year.

American Gridirons.

A directory has been made in South Dakota which will give employment to thousands of people in the United States and Europe in this country many millions of dollars. The new industry is that of making the finer grades of grindstones, which have hitherto been imported from England, Bavaria and France. Quarries of sandstone have recently been found which supply stone equal to the finest grade imported. Specimens of the grindstones have been submitted to all the well known experts, who have agreed that no better grade of stone is in existence.

A DRAMA BY SPIRITS.

THE SHADE OF BARTLEY CAMPBELL WRITES A PLAY.

It is Entitled "Miranda," and Will Shortly Be Put on the Boards at Lily Dale, N.Y., How Campbell Wrote the Play Through the Medium of a Living Man.

In the latter part of August a play will be put upon the boards at Lily Dale, N. Y., that everybody will be curious to see. It is a spiritistic drama, and it is no common drama and dead man or woman's production. At least so says the author—or, no, he scribe. I. Ransom Sanford, a western journalist and spiritualist of note. He says that the play, which bears the suggestive title of "Miranda," was written by the shade of Bartley Campbell. Not that the long dead and gone creator of "The White Slave" etc., actually manipulated in Mr. Sanford's study and wrote the manuscript of "Miranda" with lore-vowed pen, ink and paper. Oh, no! It was not done in that way. The story of its creation, as told by Mr. Sanford, is well worth hearing or reading. Said he:

"I shall have to go back as far as the year 1856 and state that I was made aware of the possibility of spirit communion through the instrumentality of that queer little instrument that is called a planchette. I was a student at Mount Edward, on the Hudson, but had gone to my home in Michigan on a visit. My stepmother was a rigorous religionist, and I was surprised to find a planchette in my possession on a table in the dining room. 'What's this?' I asked her. 'Oh, that's a game that was given to you and she replied indirectly. Now, I had heard of planchettes and was a good deal amused by my stepmother's ignorance. I said to her, 'Let us sit down and see how it works.' She consented and the result was astonishing. My own mother's name was spelled out on the fly leaf thing, and then this message. Your sister Annie is ill with typhoid fever at Fort Edward.' Neither of us at that time dreamed of such a thing, and yet it afterward proved to be the case. Another test of spirit presence was given that night through the planchette. A name was spelled which neither my mother nor myself recognized. 'We don't know you.' I said. 'You were very young to remember me,' was the reply. 'Ask your father about me.' I went in search of my father, and after reaching his brains for awhile he said that all this work had been done by whom he had once been connected in an important land deal.

"I had always been a ruled against future speculation, but from that night I was a Spiritist, and soon afterward made a thorough study of psychic science. Two years ago I very unexpectedly to myself became impelled into my automatic writer. I was sitting in a seance room with a few friends one night, when my hand and arm began to shake and the pencil commenced to write with rapidity. Some one suggested putting a pencil in my hand. They did so, and upon a piece of paper it automatically and very distinctly wrote: 'Bartley Campbell's dead.' signed, 'Bartley Campbell.' 'All right,' I said, 'if Bartley Campbell wants to write a play through me let him go ahead.' The next night my arm and hand were again controlled and wrote out a cast of characters and began the play. It was completed without interruption and was often obliged to keep off in the middle of a sentence, but at every minute I knew the influence was removed and take up the thread of the story exactly where it had ended and go on. I—no, Bartley Campbell—wrote the play in from eight to ten days, and after it had been published several weeks I received it 'Miranda.'"—Buffalo Express.

Three Kisses.

Childhood, upon her brow, dropp'd kisses Like showers of roses;
With crowning song, so lingered by her side,
And, with bright hope, her golden locks did braid,
Youth, from her poetic lips, drank kisses rare,
As warm as southern winds, that saintly blow
Love, with sad sighs, stroked her golden hair,
"This love," she murmured low.

Age, with chill kiss, frosts her furrowed brow
Over her dim eyes she felt his icy breath,
Lastly he clasped her in a close embrace—
She, who'd been fair, was dead.

A Lump of Lead in His Stomach.

H. S. Buchanan, Decorator, 125 West Sixth street, Indianapolis, says: "For years, after eating, I would feel as if I had a lump of lead in my stomach. This, with a soreness rising in my mouth, would make me feel miserable beyond the power of words to tell. I have taken one box of LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS and it has done me a world of good. I can confidently recommend it to anyone afflicted with dyspepsia or stomach trouble of any kind.

GREAT MEMORIES.

Alexander the Great knew Homer by heart, and could repeat both the "Iliad" and the "Odyssey" from memory.

John Bunyan made himself very popular among the people by remembering them all. He add a face never left him.

Charlemagne could hold his tongue in eight different languages. He made a specialty of studying every language spoken in his empire.

Henry Clay knew personally and remembered the names of thousands of his constituents. It was his strong point during a canvass.

Palmerston knew all the odes and other poems of Horace by heart. He translated large portions of Horace's poems into English verse.

Jeremy Taylor memorized his sermons so easily that it was said of him he began to commit his sermons to memory when the first bell for service rang.

Cheoptes is said to have spoken all the languages used by her subjects, together with faith and Greek. Attogether she understood eleven or twelve languages.

Max Muller knew eighteen different languages to the extent of being able to speak or write in any one, and a considerable number in addition less perfectly.

Lipcoln's memory for the details of national business was unexampled. He recalled the particulars of every Cabinet meeting with the most scrupulous exactness.

Admiral de Crichton is said to have been the master of all the arts and sciences of his day. He was able to converse and dispute in argument in twelve languages.

John Wesley remembered the names of many hundreds of the members of his societies, and was rarely at fault when addressed by any one whom he had met before.

Lord Macaulay is said to have known by name every soldier in his army of 10,000 to 20,000 men. He spoke twenty-two different languages, all that were used in his kingdom.

Hadn't Thought of That.

Several nights ago a well-known physician bought a package of peanuts from a Main street peddler, and while the man was measuring out his purchase the doctor drew a cigar from his pocket and proceeded to light it.

The peddler looked on him with a reproachful expression on his face. "They don't smoke in heaven," he said.

"No!" answered the doctor, "neither do they sell peanuts."—Buffalo Courier.

A NEW DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Over 6,000 People in State of Michigan Cured in 1894 by this new Preparation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the supposed discovery for stomach troubles, is claimed to have cured over 6,000 people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894.† These tablets have become an article with physicians and people who have any form of indigestion that they have the endorsement of such physicians as Dr. Richardson and Dr. Jennison as being the safest, most reliable remedy for sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, gas, bloating, palpitation, sensitive, constipation, and in all cases where the appetite is poor or the food imperfectly digested.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will carry any kind of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. They are not a secret patent medicine but composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin, Golden Seal, ginger and the digestive acids. They are pleasant to take, can be carried in the pocket, and they cure because they digest the food promptly, before it has time to ferment and poison the blood.

Druggists everywhere sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 Cents. A book on Stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing The Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

BRIGHT LIFE ENDED.

William Wise Succumbs to Typhoid Fever.

Excursionists Injured by a Road Collision—Tennyan Personals—Train Wreck—Local Gossip.

William H. Wise, aged nineteen years, died early this morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac B. Wise, of 13 Smith avenue. Six weeks ago the deceased was taken with typhoid fever and after a tedious illness, during which his devoted mother was constantly at his bedside, he passed the crisis stage in that fearful disease, so the parents and attending physician supposed, and was rapidly regaining his health. A few days ago, however, he suffered a relapse and grew rapidly worse until this morning, when death relieved him of his sufferings. William was a most exemplary young man, being sober, studious and industrious and his untimely death is indeed a severe blow not only to the bereaved family, but to a large circle of friends and the community in general. He was, for some months previous to his late illness, employed at the Bowser Oil Tank works. The funeral will be held from the house next Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock. The bereaved father is foreman of the tank department of the Pittsburg shops.

EXCURSIONISTS BADLY INJURED.

The Ada excursion to Put-in-Bay Saturday ended in sorrow to half a dozen or more families. As the steamer City of Toledo was entering the Maumee river upon her return trip, she was run into by the schooner Maddison T. Downing, and six of the excursionists were injured, two of them so badly that there is but little chance for their recovery. The injured are Mrs J. L. Miller, Mrs. John Sanderson, Miss Anna Zimmerman, Miss Grace Gardwood, Miss Gussie Jackson and Miss Nellie Garwood. Mrs. Miller resides in Bucyrus, Ohio, and the rest of the unfortunates are residents of Ada, Ohio. Messrs. Miller and Sanderson, it is thought, will not recover. Several of the ladies are related to some of the Pittsburg trainmen and are known here.

THE REQUIREMENTS OF A NOTORIAN.

A street railroad president in St. Louis says: "The general introduction of electricity has brought the officers and men of the street railroads to closer relation. It takes a higher order of intelligence to manage a trolley than it does to drive a mule. We have regular schools of instruction now which the men must attend, and this has brought the best of them forward. Ability is quickly detected by the questions asked and the interest taken, and wherever ability is found it is marked for promotion. The school of instruction is steadily reducing the percentage of accidents, and we expect to get this average below the old average on horse car lines. Drink has been absolutely prohibited among employees, and the well remembered mule-hooker, whose capacity for whisky was only exceeded by his versatility in profanity, is of the past. He has been weeded out."

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Last Saturday Leslie Tesler boarded a Lake Shore freight train at Kendallville to ride to Newville, Ind., his home. He climbed upon a box car and seated himself upon it, with his feet dangling over the end. Before the train had gotten out of the town Lesler fell off the car and the wheels severed the lower limbs. Some women witnessed the accident and summoned surgical aid, but the man lived only a few minutes. Tesler was the son of a well known farmer living near Newville.

HAS A WARM FEELING FOR THE TRAMP.

There is said to be an old engineer running through Hartford City over the Panhandle who has a warm spot in his heart for a tramp and never orders one off the train. He owns his life to tramps. But for tramps he would have been responsible for a bad wreck. He forgot orders to stop and take a siding. He was coming down hill with a heavy train the other side of Logansport, when he saw a headlight ahead, and then he realized his mistake. He whistled for brakes, steam was shut off, the engine reversed and the engineer and fireman got down on the steps to jump. They found the brakes too steep and a jump would mean certain death. Then they started to run back over the cars and noticed that the train was slowing up rapidly. And it was the tramps getting in their work. There were twenty five of them and each one was at a brake lugging for dear life. The train was slowed up so that when the two locomotives together there was no damage done. Ever since then he has been willing to divide his last crust of bread with a tramp.

THE WABASH EXCURSION.

The Wabash excursion to Toledo yesterday was more of a success than the railway officials anticipated, there being about 800 people on the train when it pulled into Toledo. The people of Wauseon and Huntington patronized the road for the more liberally yesterday than they did the one of last month and when the train reached this city there were over 200 people aboard. There were sold here 346 tickets, and the balance of the 800 was made up at Defiance and points between that city and Fort Wayne. Owing to the fact that the greater portion of the excursionists resided in Indiana, the profits of the excursion were greater than those of former similar events. There was not a single accident during the day.

BRIEF MENTION.

H. A. McCollom, of the Wabash machine shop, spent Sunday in Toledo.

Sickness keeps Peter Conroy from his duties in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

Machinist John Thompson, of the Bass works, has returned from Niagara Falls.

Passenger engines 70, 202 and 111 are in the Pennsylvania shops being repainted.

Boilermaker Jacob Beeler is sick and off duty. He is employed in the Pittsburg shops.

Machinist Hermad Regel resumed work in the Bass shops this morning, after a week's sojourn at Rome City.

On account of the illness of his baby, Blacksmith W. Vanallen is unable to report for duty at the Pittsburg shops.

The bending department of the Standard wheel works is closed today for repairs to the machinery and line shafting.

This week the street fair will be held at Peru and all the roads leading to that city are making a special rate to that point.

George Allen and a couple of friends are enjoying a hunt in the wilds of Monroe township. He is a Pittsburg blacksmith.

William Volkening, the blacksmith who had a hand injured a week ago, resumed his duties at the Bass works this morning.

Charles King, clerk at the Bass offices, resumed his duties this morning. He returned from Niagara Falls Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zauner, wife of the machinist at the Bay Run power station, has gone to Toledo to spend two weeks with her parents.

Master Mechanic and Mrs. Barney Fitzpatrick, of Columbus, Ohio, were guests of Fort Wayne friends at Rome City over Sunday.

George White is looking after the duties of Pricing Clerk Lewis Dailey, of the Pittsburg shops, during the absence of that gentleman.

Clem Mote, the Pittsburg brakeman who had a hand injured a short time ago, is spending a few days with friends and relatives in Huntington.

Andy Koontz has recovered from the effects of ivy poison and this morning resumed work in the Pittsburg paint shop after three days' absence.

Master Car Builder James A. Graham, of the Pennsylvania shops, has returned to his duties after spending a two weeks' vacation in the east.

Peru Chronicle: "John Boyle and Tim Doud are home from Fort Wayne, where they have been working on the Muncie division of the Lake Erie."

Rhinesmith & Simonson closed a contract Saturday to furnish the material, doors, frames and window sashes for a church to be built at Montpelier, Ind.

Ben Armack, Charlie Ball and A. J. Dawson, of the Pittsburg machine shop, have returned from Atwood, Ind., where they had great success in catching fish.

A bright little daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lerch, 353 East Wayne street, Sunday morning. Mr. Lerch is a machinist employed in the Bass works.

Mrs. Horace Walton, wife of the well known Pennsylvania trainman, is quite ill.

Engineer John Bechtel, of the Pittsburg, is off duty on account of the death of a relative.

Harry Teeple and John Dallas, of the clerical offices, are not at their desks today, owing to sickness.

Engineer Frank Carman, of Wabash switch engine 297, is quite ill. He was taken sick suddenly last Saturday evening.

Marcy Quickstell, agent of the Star Union Freight line, has returned to the city and resumed his duties, after a sojourn at Bement, Ill.

Frank Cummins has returned from Jefferson, S. D., and this morning resumed his duties as telegrapher in Master Mechanic F. W. Morse's office.

Railway detectives are kept busy nowadays, while trains in large quantities are being shipped, watching sneak thieves, who are on the alert for opportunities to plunder the box cars in which they are carried.

During the absence of Isaac B. Wise, Louis Stettor is acting as foreman of the tank department of the Pittsburg shops. The particulars of the bereavement which has befallen Mr. Wise will be found at the head of these columns.

Charles Burchard, foreman of the car repairers at the east car shops, received a painful cut across the nose and cheek Saturday afternoon by running against some pieces of tin which were lying upon a car and which extended over the side.

Eastbound Nickel Plate train No. 6 ran in two sections last night, there being more than the usual number of passengers and baggage. The second section only carried one coach, the balance of the train being made up of baggage cars.

It is the peculiarity of Russian railways that their stations are generally two miles distant from the towns and villages which they serve. This is said to be on account of the danger of fire, the houses in small places generally being thatched with straw.

Blacksmith Frank Opals, of the Pittsburg shops, was off duty today, engaged in the pleasant pastime of tinking down and putting up stove pipes and wrestling with furniture. After today his friends can find him on East Lewis street, near the U. B. church.

S. E. Nicholson, author of the transperance law, has applied to the railroads for a clergyman's half-rate permit. He is not a minister, but asks for the concession on account of the Law and Order league. The question has been referred to the higher officials.

Owing to the increased demands made upon the machinery in the testing department of the electric works, the millwrights were employed all Saturday and Sunday in putting the line shafting and appurtenances in shape, commensurate with the new order of things.

I. F. Nesmith, of the Wabash shops, and his son spent Sunday with William Zeh at Bern. Mr. Zeh is the gentleman who suffered a paralytic stroke while working in the Wabash shops a few months ago. His friends here will be pleased to hear that he is improving and may recover.

On August 9 a passenger train of the Chicago, Fort Madison and Des Moines was detained an hour by a swarm of hornets which attacked the engineer and fireman as the train was moving slowly on an ascending grade. The car windows were open and many passengers were stung.

Rhinesmith & Simonson's factory is now engaged in making the doors and interior woodwork for the new Ind block, at the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets. The lower floor will be finished with oak and the upper floors with southern pine, and they will be very handsome.

Dr. George C. Slemon was summoned to the Pittsburg shops late Saturday afternoon, where he found Patrick O'Brien, the well known blacksmith, suffering from an ugly scalp wound. The unfortunate man was struck by a door which fell from a freight car. It required several stitches to close the gaping wound.

F. Roul Baldwin, of New York, who has been in the city combining business and pleasure for the past week, left last night for his home. Mr. Baldwin is the eastern representative of the Bass Foundry and Machine works and during the past year has sold many engines for the company. He reports the business outlook as exceedingly encouraging.

Ticket brokers at Chicago are beginning that notwithstanding the restrictions placed around the harvest excursion tickets by the western roads, they will be able to do an immense business in them. They claim to have discovered a way of getting around the restrictions so as to make the tickets so easily handled as any that have been placed upon the market.

At 9:30 o'clock Saturday night fire broke out in the house of James A. Slagle, No. 175 Wells street, and before the flames could be subdued, the property was damaged to the extent of about $200. The fire started in some mysterious manner in the sitting room, when the family was down town. Mr. Slagle is a car repairer and is employed by the Lake Shore Railway company.

A bouquet of rare and beautiful flowers adorns the desk of Foreman P. J. Scheid, of the Pittsburg round house. The flowers came from the gardens of Councilman Tony Kelker and included in size a specimen of the night blooming cereus that ever produced in this city. It measures over eight inches across the face when open. Mr. Kelker had eight of these flowers in bloom last night.

ROSY IS THE OUTLOOK

EVERY INDICATION OF BIG BUSINESS IN THE FUTURE.

Crop Reports Most Flattering—Wall Street Bulls Expect to Old Fashioned Campaign, and Their Hope Is High—What the Veterans Say.

Of all the reports on the crop situation issued during the year by the general government or the various states those for August and September are considered the most momentous. The statements of the agricultural bureau at Washington are given out on the 10th of each month. The figures just furnished fully bear out the flattering accounts received by telegraph and mail from responsible sources as well as the hopeful expressions of prominent railway officials who have returned from tours of inspection over various big systems. The increase in many values of this year's crops will be enormous, and upon this one fact more than anything else is predicated the liberation of securities and the great strength of the markets. As the farmer will receive fair compensation for his labor he will be in a position to spend more for merchandise and luxuries of life. This will be good for the country storekeeper, which will be a starting point for improvement that will be felt in every ramification of trade and finance. Success of the agricultural class has been the underlying cause for prosperity at all stages, and the railroads no less than the merchant and laborer must benefit greatly during the next year or 18 months if the August crop estimates are not seriously damaged by future damage by climatic events. The corn crop happens to be the most important of all this year, as a bounteous yield means a plentiful supply of meats, which enter so largely into our export trade, and which will sooner or later result in the return of some of the gold forwarded to Europe in the past few months.

As has been pointed out more than once, comparatively few brokers and speculators really know what a genuine bull campaign is like, and they are foolishly enough grasping their opportunities by the scruff of the rope they want, with the firm conviction that somemore loanys the latter are given the quicker will they hang themselves. Probably the best criterion of the situation is the fact that, while the professional element keeps on selling short, those closely identified with the railroads are buying securities and that powerful bankers and their friends are backing the market.

All those who make any protest of keeping up with the times know that Cuticura, the well known blood purifiers, and Cuticura Soap, the great skin beautifier, in the form of chocolate coated pills, Cuticura Resolvent, are the most popular, New York and New Haven, Morrisand Essex, Lackawanna and Delaware and Hudson, long since passed from brokers' offices into the tin boxes of investors, and that there is no longer any field for speculation in that class. They also say that the same thing is now going on in stocks which, while paying dividends for a number of years, are selling at comparatively low prices, because they are not yet well known to investors. There is every reason to believe, therefore, that the grainger stocks, Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred, Lake Erie and Western preferred, Western Union and Manhattan will become scarce, and that all properties having the advantage of good management and geographical position will, in time, move to a higher level. Investors who are looking for income and speculators who prefer to trade in stocks the dividends on which pay the cost of carrying for more than one day, have their attention to such shares as these just named.

At the same time low priced stocks are growing more and more in favor, and Missouri Pacific, Ohio and Pacific, Wabash, Canada Southern, Pittsburg, and Western preferred, Omaha, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Rocking Valley and Southern Railway are destined to come to the front before a great while, provided, of course, nothing untoward happens to disarrange crops. On the other hand, there is practically nothing short to where it belongs, in view of the probable levying of a $12 assessment, without anything in the way of new securities to show for it, and Northern Pacific is preferred seems destined to work down to where other bankrupt properties have gone, since the stockholders in this case also are confronted with the probability amounting almost to a certainty of a $15 cash assessment. The chances here, too, are that nothing will be given to represent this large payment, and when the plan of reorganization is made public those who look for any other result will be disappointed. Nothing definite is known concerning Reading matters, but the fact that the coal trade is acknowledged to be in poor shape and that the companies will have a good part of the year's profits unless they soon reach an understanding renders it tolerably certain that the bankers having the Reading in charge will promptly reach a conclusion of some sort.—New York World.

Death as Read in the Face.

A rather curious discovery has been made with reference to soldiers killed in battle. On the authority of several English army surgeons it can be stated that the cause of death is clearly shown in the expression of the face of a corpse on the battlefield.

Those who have been killed by sound throats have a look of horror, as if from a bullet that brought the soldier to earth, pain, often of the most frightful nature, is clearly depicted.

DRESS GOODS!

There's news enough about them to fill this paper. For days the new ones have been tumbling in on us so fast as to hardly allow us to get them placed in the shelves. This great stock is the accumulation and buying of months of preparation. We anticipate a great Dress Goods business this fall and have thoroughly prepared for it. Already many lovely novelties have been sold.

Among the thousands on the Shelves and Counters there is something to please—and they are all new.

Here's an idea of some of them:

CRIPILLE MOHAIR

A fabric woven of two or three shades and raised figures and stripes. Price $1.75.

SCOTCH MIXED CHECKS.

A beautiful combination of colors for tailor suits, Price $1.35.

REP PLAIDS.

Smooth finish stuffs, Scotch colorings with bars of gold, or some bright shades Price 35c to $1.25.

FRENCH NOVELTY PLAIDS.

Most stylish Boucle effects—that is, various colors woven and interwoven into a ground of rich colorings upon the surfaces of which have been thrown little loops of different shades, the effect being very rich. Prices $1.50 up to $3.50.

SILK AND WOOL NOVELTIES

In mixtures and checks, 40 inches wide, the richest goods at the price we have ever shown, Price 50c.

ROSINDA SUITINGS

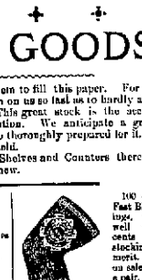
Checks and mixtures, about 36 styles are shown in as many different colorings, all wool, Price 40c.

EQUITY SUITINGS

36 inches wide, all wool, black or dark grounds, shot over with bright colors. Price 37½c.

JAMESTOWN NOVELTIES.

Here is the goods for the masses—200 pieces on display, showing the most charming novelties in low price fabrics, rated for good wear ever put upon the counters. A big showing of these will be made in the windows, Price 37½c.



100 dozen fine Fast Black Stockings, which are well worth 25 cents a pair—a stocking showing merit. We place on sale at 18 cents a pair, or we give 3 pairs for

50 Cents.

Girls Wash Dresses

Made of neat gingham, ages 2 to 6 years, 25 cents each—couldn't get the goods for the money.

EMBROIDERED FLANNELS.

This is a nice department—a place where Ladies like to congregate—Flannels beautifully embroidered at a low price, for baby's skirts, Ladies' skirts—some new beauties just landed. 65c, 75c and $1.00.

TABLE LINEN BARGAINS.

There's one good Linen Store in this city. When you want Linens, this is the store.

White Fringed Setts, 2¼ yards long, now $2.00. White Fringed Setts, 2½ yards long, now $2.50. White Fringed Setts, 2¾ yards long, now $3.00.

The hearing of Daniel Staub, who was arrested at Decatur, Friday, for violations of the postal laws, was begun before United States Commissioner Leonard, but owing to the failure of certain important witnesses to appear, the case was continued until next Thursday.

An express company of Chicago is about to start a new system for the delivery of light parcels within the city limits. Tricycles will be used instead of express wagons, and it is believed a great saving in time will be effected. The new vehicles are specially designed for the work and can be moved almost as fast as a safety "bike" over ordinary roads.

Last evening at the Congregational church Rev. J. S. Ainslie, the pastor, delivered a discourse upon the subject, "The Sanctity of the Body, and Shall Our Bodies be Cremated." It was a most interesting and able discussion of the question of the cremation of the dead, which has lately come into prominence by reason of its having been introduced to some extent at different places. The SENTINEL will give a synopsis of Mr. Ainslie's sermon tomorrow.

Joseph Millspaugh, of the Anderson Natural Gas company, who is summering in Michigan, last Saturday called up his office over the long distance telephone, and his favorite dog happening to be in the office, the animal was placed on the table and given a chance to hear his master's voice. The dog recognized the first notes and was delirious with delight. Since that time he has haunted the telephone, and whenever the bell tinkles he is the first to bounce toward the table.

Nearly forty years ago, William Nicholson, a wealthy Englishman, expended $40,000 in building a home two miles south of Crown Point, but after living in it for two years, mysteriously vacated the property, and since that time the house has been practically without a tenant. It became known as a haunted house, and although families would occasionally lease it, their occupancy was always brief, while nothing could ever induce them to return. The huge structure is now a mass of ruins. The windows, doors and ceilings have fallen, the underpinning is rotting out, and the surroundings are in a most wretched state. The tract covers forty acres of good land, which time and again has been offered rent free, but no one can be found bold enough to undertake cultivation. The mystery of the building is the place where the ghosts are believed to play hide and seek, and after nightfall the screams of women are heard, with other uncanny noise.

Miss Laura Smith has gone to Delphi to visit her grandparents.

Phil H. Hyman, the gent's furnishing dealer, has been on the sick list for a few days.

The Misses Estella Stierlein and Mary Leach are visiting friends at Princeton, Ill.

Miss Velma Ohmeck has returned from Detroit where she has been visiting friends for a month.

Sheriff Clausmeier has taken Mary Close, who was adjudged insane, to the Richmond insane asylum.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hanley, of Indianapolis, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hanley, of Wallace street.

No police court was held this morning. Not an arrest was made by the officers Saturday night or Sunday.

Mrs. Kittie Collins and baby, of Valparaiso, are the guests of Mrs. Collins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bellamus.

Fred Miller, formerly with the Seavey Hardware company, has accepted a position with Morgan & Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ward, of 108 Wallace street, have returned to Chicago, their home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hayles and two sons, of Chicago, are the guests of Mr. Hoyles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Boyles, No. 35 Miner street.

Mrs. J. E. Miller, of Wallace and Lafayette streets, has returned from Carroll, Ohio, where she was the guest of the doctor's father about six weeks.

Misses Emma Koegel and Lou Traub accompanied Miss Minnie Wittekay to her home in Detroit yesterday. The latter was visiting here two or three weeks.

Prof. W. J. Lewis, formerly principal of the Windsor Business college, has been engaged to take charge of the shorthand department at the International Business college.

Mrs. A. M. Baxter and daughter Harriet, of 29 Columbia avenue, together with her sister, Miss Fannie Harmon, of 36 East Wayne street, are visiting friends in Toledo.

Joe Stevens very pleasantly entertained the members of the Standard Mandolin club and a few friends Friday evening at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Charles Dwelly, on McClellan street.

Roy, the twelve-year old son of Robert Liggel, the well known liveryman, while playing on a trapeze with some companions in Bloomingdale, received a fall from which he sustained a broken leg.

A lodge of Knights of Pythias is to be instituted in Markle, Huntington county, next Monday evening. Members from Bluffton, Huntington, Fort Wayne and other points will be present and assist in the exercises.

Mr. Randall, a railroad engineer and "lay preacher" of the M. E. church south, occupied the pulpit of the Berry street church last evening. His discourse was an earnest and practical one, and well pleased all who heard it.

Mrs. Oscar H. Lilley, of 222 Madison street, received a telegram yesterday afternoon announcing the death of her father at Albion, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Lilley left today over the Lake Shore to attend the funeral, which will take place on Tuesday afternoon.

Frank Dwelly, of this city, joined the Trilby opera company in New York, which opened the season at the Boston museum last Monday. They are playing a two weeks' engagement, and Frank writes friends in this city that the company is meeting with great success.

On Monday, Aug. 12, J. J. C. Weidler and C. F. Fought left Carlisle, Pa., upon their wheels and arrived in Fort Wayne on Saturday night of the same week. They are visiting Mr. Preston Chapman and friends around Fort Wayne. They left on their wheels for home this morning.

The SENTINEL has been shown a certificate from Justice of the Peace Louis Huser, of this city, certifying to the fact that Charles Gyss, of the Indiana Furniture company, was not one of the men who made affidavit before him against John Meeks, as was reported in some of the papers at the time. Mr. Gyss was out of the city at the time the case was commenced, he being on a fishing expedition of three weeks then in the eastern part of the state.

The Young Men's Christian association has arranged for a large excursion to the Winona assembly, Eagle Lake, next Thursday. This furnishes an opportunity for all to enjoy a day's outing at this beautiful resort with boating, fishing and bathing and at the same time hear the great J. Wilbur Chapman and his assistant, "Billy" Sunday, the celebrated fielder of the Chicago team. The rate of $1.00 for the round trip, including admission to grounds, has been secured. Good on any regular train.

Rev. R. D. Spellman, wife and daughter, Mrs. I. M. Jones, have returned from Bay View, where they had been enjoying an outing of several weeks. A few days before leaving the reverend gentleman had a narrow escape from drowning, having been thrown into the lake while leaving a pleasure steamer. Just as he was stepping from the steamer to the wharf the boat pushed off, and Mr. Spellman missed his footing and fell into the water. Fortunately, he was able to swim, and he kept himself up until help came. Mr. Spellman is almost eighty-two years of age, but he is very vigorous for a man of such years, and no evil effects resulted from his enforced plunge. An amusing account of his experience appeared in the Winchester Herald, written by Dr. Spellman.

The Salesmonia Gas company is preparing to lay mains on Huttmansteel, and residents of the northwestern part of the city will soon be indulging in the luxury of fires that need no care.

The meeting of the Thirtieth Indiana regiment union, to be held in this city next Thursday, promises to be a most interesting event. Quite a attendance of old soldiers will be large and the program arranged is a most interesting one.

The horse attached to the lumber wagon of E. Gilmartin ran away on Clinton street this morning, and turning onto East Berry scattered the lumber along that street, but no serious damage was done. Michael Gilmartin was driving the team.

Mrs. Charles Iplegger and daughter, Lola, from Chicago, who have been visiting among relatives in this city for four weeks past, returned home yesterday morning accompanied by her nephew, Lewis Brandt. He will visit in that city for two weeks.

The town of Franklin, Pa., will celebrate its centennial anniversary on the 4th and 5th of next month. Invitations written in the language of a century ago have been issued. Franklin is the birth place and old home of Mrs. George F. Evans, of this city.

Superintendent of Police Liggett is celebrating the fifty-second anniversary of his birth today. He is in especially good humor with himself and all mankind, but it might not be safe for evildoers to bank very largely upon that fact. They might be surprised.

Miss Lillie Smith, of Stophlet street, who recently returned from Ohio and Michigan, where she spent the summer, was the victim of a surprise party by her young friends last Friday evening. There were about twenty in the party and all enjoyed the occasion very much.

A Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was organized yesterday afternoon at the North Side mission and the following officers were elected; President, Fred Barthold; vice president, Miss Lottie Bischoff; secretary, Charles Stallmann; treasurer, Miss Lyrtle Wever. Collegiate prayer meetings will be held every Tuesday evening.

General Manager Perry, of the Western Union, is putting on airs in his new location, in the Tri-State building. The room is being fitted up in an elegant manner and the furniture is of the latest and newest designs. The commodore is already becoming proud, but he continues to address his friends in the same and persuasive manner peculiar to himself alone.

Fort Wayne Business College offers superior advantages to young men and women, in all the common branches. More graduates are located annually in office work and business pursuits than from all other agencies combined.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The Estimates for the Year Made on a $4 Levy.

The Budget to be Placed Before the City Council at Its Session Tomorrow Evening.

The city common council meets in regular session tomorrow evening, the first session that has been held during the month of August. At this session will be presented the estimates of the city administration as to the revenue necessary for the conduct of the city business for the next twelve months. The estimates have been based on a levy of $4 and it is quite probable that the figure will be accepted by the council. This is a reduction of last year's levy, and while under it not everything can be done that is desired, it is not thought that the city's interest will suffer, but that it will be sufficient for all necessary purposes. The estimates will be sent to the council with a message from Mayor Oakley, in which he will give his views as well as an explanation of the reasoning of the board in making up the budgets. The document to be presented estimates the total receipts for the next year at $238,907.45, and the expenditures at $232,987.45. Thus it is seen that the boards have kept the expenses within the limit, a policy which is commendable. Nothing else, however, would be satisfactory to the common council, and that is the body which acts finally upon this matter anyhow.

HEALTH RULES.

Frances E. Willard Commits an Eminent London Physician.

The hygienic rules laid down by Sir Andrew Clark, one of the leading physicians of London, for Miss Frances E. Willard, who was in a state of nervous exhaustion, may well be copied by some hints for less distinguished sufferers:

"On first waking in the morning sip about half a pint of water, hot or cold; on rising take a tepid sponge bath, followed by a brisk general toweling. Clothe warmly and loosely. Avoid chills, damp and passive exposure to cold. Take three simple, nourishing meals daily, and nothing between them. Breakfast at 8 to 9, plain or whole meal bread or toast and butter, with eggs or fresh fish or cold chicken or game or tongue, fresh, not preserved, and toward the close of the meal about half a pint of tea, not infused over five minutes, or of cocoatina or of coffee and milk.

"Dinner from 1 to 2 o'clock, fresh, well dressed meat, potato, some well boiled green vegetable, if it agrees, and either some simple farinaceous pudding or some simply cooked fruits. Toward the close of the meal drink water.

"High tea, five to six hours after dinner, wholemeal bread or toast and butter, with broiled fish or cutlets, or a chop of cold meat or cold chicken, and toward the close of the meal about half a pint of black China tea, not infused over five minutes; cocoatina or cocoa nibs may be substituted for tea if it is preferred and if it agrees.

"Nothing after this meal except that, on going to bed, you may sip a tumbler full of water, hot or cold.

"Avoid soups, sauces, pickles, spices, curries; salted, smoked, tinned or otherwise prepared foods; pies, pastry, cheese, creams, ices, jams, dried fruits, nuts, raw vegetables, compotes, ginger beer, much liquid of any sort, and all sour, sweet and effervescent drinks.

"Walk at least half an hour twice daily.

"Retire as soon as possible after 10. See that your room is airy. Avoid softness and self-distrust. Shun ease and lead a full and regular, an active and occupied life. Take nothing between meals. Never take a sleeping draught. Take as little medicine as possible; accept your sufferings; strength is perfected in weakness; in labor you will find life."

GAME LAWS.

Indians Have the Right to Hunt on Unoccupied Lands.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—It has been definitely decided by the Indian bureau that no attention will be paid to the game laws of Wyoming where they come into conflict with the treaty of the United States with the Bannock and Shoshone Indians. The attorney general, after considering the matter, has informed the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of Indian affairs that the rights of the Indians to hunt on unoccupied lands, in his opinion, are unquestionable, and that he considers that the state of Wyoming has no power to limit or abridge this right. No definite steps to enforce this determination have been decided upon, further than that the instructions to the United States district attorneys to secure the release of Indians now in custody on writs of habeas corpus probably will be supplemented by an order to do the same thing in case any arrest is made in the future. The bureau will discourage hunting by the Indians as far as possible and all present no passes will be issued permitting the braves to leave the reservation. It is probable that a small number of soldiers will be kept in the Jackson Hole country during the remainder of the hunting season, and if it should be deemed advisable at any time to permit the Indians to leave the reservation to hunt, the whites, probably, will not be permitted to molest them. It is hoped, however, that the work on the irrigation ditch, soon to be contracted for, will furnish occupation and money for the Indians and make hunting unnecessary for their maintenance during the winter. No immediate trouble is anticipated, as the Indians now are all on their reservations and are likely to remain there for the present.

City officials have received magnificently printed programs announcing the second annual meeting of the association of boards of public works and similar officials of the United States, to be held at Cincinnati on September 11 and 12. Elaborate preparations have been made by the officers of Cincinnati for the entertainment of their guests. A number of Fort Wayne officers have expressed their determination to attend the meeting. The association was organized at a meeting held at Buffalo, N. Y., last year.

The Misses Grace Monahan, Helen O'Rourke, Myra Smith, Bessie Cherry and Daisy Ball have returned from Rome City, where they spent a very pleasant week with Miss Ella Keil at the Keil cottage. Miss Ball resides in Lock Haven, Pa., and is the guest of Miss Cherry.

Young men and women anxious to improve their situation to life should pursue a practical course of study in the Fort Wayne Business College, MacDougal block, cor. Berry and Calhoun streets. Office open day and evening.
